On the Side—By E. V. Durling

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

One ought every day
To hear a little song,
To read a fine poem,
To see a fine picture,
And, if possible,
Speak a few seasonable words.

GOETHE.

You just have to hand it to Milwaukee for being the check-up capital of the nation. When an argument-settler from that city gets down to business, it ends the dispute. As for example: "I see you are having an argument as to who wakes up the bugler," writes a Milwaukee subscriber. "That I can tell you. I was a bugler in the United States army for four and a half years. At times while on guard duty the sergeant or the corporal of the guard woke me. However, I wish to state with a great deal of emphasis that on a great many of the mornings I was on duty as bugler I had to wake myself with my trusty old alarm clock."

Getting Married
Young woman, about to be married, asks me to quote the old poem about, "Best Cole - To Be Married In." I assume she refers to the following:
Married in blue
Your love will be true,
Married in white
You'll fight and fight,
Married in black,
You'll wish yourself back,
Married in green
You'll live like a queen.

Side Lights
Have heard of a California mother whose three sons were born sixteen years apart? That is, she became a mother at the age of 17, again at 33 and again at 49. Extremely unusual. I doubt even Brooklyn can top it. . . . Following are some nicknames from the United States department of justice files: "Iron Foot Florence," "High Ball Lil," "Third Cut Bradley," "Powder Puff Kid" and "Get Back Sallie." Very picturesque cognomens. However, my favorite nickname is still that of the character of the Old West known as "Two Ace Dora."

Asides
The name of that film in which Gable and Jean Harlow appeared was not "The Red-Haired Women" but "Red Dust" . . . There is a bar in Los Angeles called "My Sin." It serves the only free lunch in the city. Or so I am informed by a Los Angeles man-about-town. "The sound of his own name is the most beautiful music a man can hear," said Dale Carnegie. I wonder if that is true of Gustantirus Papatheodorakoumantio-

RECOGNIZES MINNESOTA

St. Paul—(UP)—Removal of a Massachusetts restriction against Minnesota licensed drivers operating any other than Minnesota cars in that state has ended the last exception to full recognition of Minnesota licenses in all states, according to the Minnesota highway department.

Hillsboro, Tex.—(UP)—Highway Patrolmen Ray Keating and Frank Jircik arrested for drunkenness a man found standing by a horse. Jircik took the drunk to jail in the patrol car, but Keating rode the horse to the jail—a distance of two miles.

started talking about old jokes. What is the first joke you remember hearing in vaudeville? A. Well, sir I recall when I was a high school kid I heard a comedian at the old Orpheum say to his feminine partner: "When I married you I thought I had married an angel." She replied: "I guess that's why you never bought me any clothes." Not much of a gag, but I remember it got a big laugh from the female customers. Q. What is the origin of the line: "The Villain still pursued her?" A. It is from a very old play titled, "The Phoenix," by Milton Nobles.

Passing By
"Noodles" Hahn, Great major league pitcher of the yesteryear. You have to be a real old timer to remember when "Noodles" pitched for the Cincinnati Reds . . . Irene Rich, Perennially charming stage and screen luminary. One of the many beautiful Buffalo gals who have made good all over the world. Irene is going to be married again shortly. This will be her third venture. She was married the first time in 1909 and the second time in 1912. Her maiden name was Luther. Rich was the name of her second husband.
