

Dr. Sander's Career In Manchester In Doubt Regardless Of Decision

By Paul F. Ellis
 United Press Science Editor
 Manchester, N. H., Mar. 2—(U.P.)—Win, lose or draw in his trial for "mercy killing," Dr. Hermann N. Sander's future career as a doctor here seems in doubt.

The people around here are still for him, but the medical profession has not expressed an opinion. A conviction—even a "hung jury"—would definitely hurt Sander's career. Even an acquittal may not win him complete exoneration from his medical society.

Friendships Breaking

Long-standing friendships also have been breaking as result of this trial. For instance, Dr. Sander is hearing doctors and nurses whom he has known and worked with for years, testify for the state against him.

It has been brought out that there were some "differences" between Dr. Sander and Dr. Robert Brory, the medical referee who testified against him. These "differences" were at medical meetings, and does not mean that there was ill feeling between the two men, because the friendliest of physicians differ with each other at times.

Many doctors believe that Dr. Sander has "embarrassed" the medical profession by admitting that he did an "unethical act." The A.M.A. may not reprimand the doctor, but his county medical society may take some kind of action when the trial is over. His license has not been suspended, but he has promised to suspend his practice pending decision of the trial.

Discussions Brought Out

The discussion of medical men in the privacy of their staff meetings or in hospitals during the course of their work usually is kept from the public—but in this trial, the public has learned of what goes on behind the scenes. Some of it has been too technical for a lay person to understand.

The "mercy killing" angle is out of the trial officially, but it may be a determining factor, one way or another, when the jury begins to decide whether Dr. Sander should be punished.

Most people around here believe a "hung jury" is quite possible, with an acquittal more likely than a conviction.

Book Borrower Can Continue Dissection

Racine, Wis., Mar. 2—(U.P.)—An inter-city library teletype service won the praise of a harassed reader.

The reader here appealed to local librarians to renew a book borrowed from the Milwaukee library.

"May we renew Leach's Functional Anatomy of the Mammal," the Racine library messaged the Milwaukee library, "Patron has cut half-dissected."

In a matter of seconds, a "yes" came back over the wires.

The patron heaved a sigh of relief and went ahead with the dissection.

DENTISTRY BY MAIL

Minneapolis (U.P.)—The University of Minnesota is practicing dentistry by mail. Its laboratory doesn't fix teeth but prescribes diets by mail to reduce tooth decay on the basis of tests made of saliva samples sent in.

Original Amateur Hour To Present Auditions Here

Rogue valley amateur entertainers will have an opportunity next week to compete for the chance of appearing on the American Broadcasting company's "Original Amateur Hour," it was announced today by James Dunlevy, manager of radio station KYJC.

The program, which was originated by the late Major Bowes and which is now being conducted by Ted Mack, is the most famous of all amateur opportunity broadcasts. It is coming to Portland April 6, Dunlevy, said, and in preparation for that appearance, an amateur audition and contest will be held here next week.

To Portland

Winner of the local contest will be sent to Portland, with all expenses paid, to compete in the nation-wide radio show.

All amateurs are invited to participate in the audition, which will be held at 4:45 p. m., March 6. Contestants are asked to be present at 4:30, with music, costumes if any, instruments and accompanist. Three judges will "screen" the contestants.

Winners of the audition will be on the first radio program which will be broadcast from the stage of the Craterian theater at 8:30 p. m. the following day, March 7, over KYJC.

By Popular Vote

At this time the winner will be selected by popular vote. The theater audience will be provided with ballots and the listening audience can also vote by using ballots which will be printed in The Mail Tribune Monday evening. Radio listeners may also vote by postcards addressed to McClain's Drug centre.

Further details of plans to send the winner to the Portland amateur hour show will be announced shortly, Dunlevy said.

WALKING ARSENAL

Montgomery, Ala.—(U.P.)—For a young fellow charged with auto theft, 18-year-old William Blake certainly went well-heeled, police said after a frisking produced the following items: One .30-30 rifle, two .22 rifles, one switch-blade knife, six hunting knives and assorted boxes of ammunition.

Minneapolis (U.P.)— Christmas spirit on the University of Minnesota campus isn't confined to the holiday season. University students during the 1948-49 academic year contributed $34,117 to campus charity funds and gave 11,091 hours of work on 372 charitable projects.

DAV And Scouts Entertained By Center Members

Member of the local Disabled American Veterans chapter and auxiliary were the guests of members of the Camp White veterans domiciliary center at the armory this week, when a banquet and entertainment were held to honor members and Boy Scouts of Troop 2, which is sponsored by the DAV.

A feature of the evening was a show presented by a Camp White cast calling themselves "Pogies on Parade." A playlet was preceded by a program of musical numbers and singing. The performers included John Kelly, special services head, as master of ceremonies, and Olney Dart, Lon Presnell, Lufe Moe, George Parker, Jerry Girard, Bill Earhardt, and Harry Teory, arts and crafts instructor, "Partly Repay."

Kelly said that the entertainment was one way of partly repaying the DAV and auxiliary for visits to Camp White for entertainment purposes since the center was activated.

Norman Matteson, scoutmaster of Troop 2, was presented and he introduced eight scouts, Robert Sproul, Willard Anderson, David Patience, Mark Parrot, Robert Erickson, Gene Fisher, Danny Hiatt and Karl Hagebauch. The boys are each in competition with other scouts for the privilege of attending the national jamboree. The troop is being encouraged to raise its own funds to send a boy to the jamboree.

A quiz contest between DAV chapter members, the auxiliary and Boy Scouts was conducted by Mrs. Adeline Grissom, with the scouts winning.

Dead line Sunday Classified is at Noon Saturdays.
