Concert To Benefit Scholarship Fund, Society Announces

When the Medford Music society presents Bernard Abram torium March 6, it will be accomplishing two of the important aims of the organization, it is pointed out. First, it will be bringing to the city one of the outstanding artists of the west, and secondly, it will be building up the scholarship fund which is used to further the musical education of talented students in this city.

The fund was started in 1938 and a number of young musicians have received a boost toward advanced musical study after their graduation from high school. Dorothy Wilder, Bob Brewer, Phyllis Furry, Vera Smith, Roger Wolf, June Williams and Jeanne Rice are among the list of students receiving the award.

Robert Pearson and Carl Winklebleek were both recipients of the honor, but were unable to make use of the gift due to enlisting in the armed services. The award for 1949 went to Herb Brower who is a student at Willamette university at the present time.

Much interest is being shown in the program to be given by Mr. Abramowitz and it is stated that music lovers are to be given an opportunity to hear some very unusual piano literature.

Tickets are on sale at Purucker's Piano house and Pruitt's Music center, and all members of the society also have tickets.

Rogue River Program Has Patriotic Theme; Former Inspector Talks

Rogue River—The social meeting of Rogue River Civic club held February 24 featured a patriotic program. Mrs. Mary Atwood, as Martha Washington, served luncheon dessert preceding the program. The table was decorated with figurines and antique silver candlesticks of the Revolutionary period from the home of Mrs. Floyd Dodge.

Roll call was answered with patriotic quotations and the reading of a letter from George Washington to Maj. Gen. Stark, by Mrs. C. L. Williams, president of the club. Mrs. Williams is a direct descendant of Captain Page, father-in-law of Maj. Gen. Stark and father of Molly Stark.

Col. C. L. Williams, guest speaker, is a retired postal inspector. He exhibited one of Hitler's mail bags and several pictures of the regular and V-mail of the army post office at the New York port of embarkation. Among them was the last V-mail letter received from the European theater of operation and the strip of film. Col. Williams conducted research on and gave the V-mail its name.

The speaker first gave a general picture of the postal inspection service and then dealt with phases of the mail inspection. He spoke of the fraudulent schemes which are advertised in cheap magazines and which are based on the desire of all humans to get "something for nothing." He described the newspaper clipping scheme and the costly COD package sometimes addressed to a deceased person and containing perhaps a cheap fountain pen. He read a list of fraudulent schemes advertised in a current magazine which included two "write a song ads," five "crooked dice and cards" ads, one "hair restorer," one "love charm," one "detective school" and one "false teeth" ad.

Other advertisements Col. Williams warned against were the "knit socks at home," and the "address envelopes or post cards," schemes, and he stated that would always be found with the finished work and no pay for it would be forth coming. He also warned against the magazine subscription solicitors, and advised housewives to ask for the solicitors city license.

Tummers Return From Trip Abroad; Brother To Arrive

Ending a stay of six weeks in Europe, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Tummers of Central Point returned to the valley this week. The Tummers first visited in Mr. Tummers' native Holland, his parents being residents of Tilburg, and later they were in Belgium, France, Italy, Switzerland, Luxembourg and other countries. They traveled both ways by air.

While the Tummers enjoyed their stay abroad very much, they report that conditions in Europe, particularly southern Europe and Italy, leave the traveler with a deep sense of depression. "The people in Italy apparently are very discouraged," Mr. Tummers reported. "It is said that more than half of the Italians do not have steady employment and there is general air of discouragement. One hears talk of war constantly, and people seem to believe that there is little use of making an effort toward economic recovery since any gains would merely be swallowed up in the next war. Italians have turned to communism because they believe any change would have to be an improvement," he said.

The Tummers were amazed at the extent of the black market activities, particularly in France, and Mr. Tummers states that a tourist can't walk a block without being accosted by someone who wants to trade in American money or sell black market American cigarettes. These were selling at about $1 a pack, he said.

Since the couple operate an inn near Central Point, they were particularly interested in visiting hotels, cafes and night clubs. At the Club Astoria, in Milan, they were introduced to a number of other American travelers, including Errol Flynn, the movie star, and had dinner with the actor. In the good hotels, the food is excellent and service fine, they found, but they were disturbed by the fact that as they sat dining on fine food, beggars clustered around the doors of the dining room and lined the sidewalks.

The travelers picked Rapolla, Italy, as the most delightful spot they visited. Rapolla is a sea coast resort city, about two hours' driving time south of Genoa, and the Tummers were enchanted with the view, the fine hotel and the friendliness of the natives.

Mr. Tummers speaks French, German and his native tongue as well as English, and Mrs. Tummers speaks both English and Italian, so they did not have the language worries which beset the ordinary American tourist abroad.

While the Tummers were in Tilburg, the engagement of Mr. Tummers' sister, Annie, was announced. A brother, Hubert, is making arrangements to come to Oregon for an indefinite stay with the couple here.

The couple plans to reopen their inn Saturday, the place having been closed during their absence.

$249,279 Value Placed On Month's Building Locally

Medford city building inspector's office issued 84 construction permits in February for projects having a total estimated valuation of $249,279.

The figure contrasted with $192,825 in January and $70,350 in February 1949. New residential construction led last month with projects valued at $175,140. New business structures had a total estimated value of $52,000. Building highlights were the $65,000 Brece Bauer, Inc., duplex apartment project in South Park addition and the $28,500 Myron Root warehouse.

There were 20 new residential undertakings and six new business buildings. Sixteen permittees spent an estimated $12,294 to remodel residences. Additional breakdown showed two new garages at $650; eight garage renovations at $1,845; five business renovations at $7,350 and seven permits for moving or demolishing buildings.

The office issued 24 permits for plumbing and eight for electrical work and eight for sewer installations. The department made 1,061 inspections.

Aged Getting Larger Share Of Benefits

Washington, Mar. 2—(U.P.)—The aged are receiving an increasingly large share of social security benefits.

This was shown today in a study of the report of the social security administration for the year ended June 30, 1949. The agency reported that men and women over 65 made up 70.1 per cent of all beneficiaries of the old age and survivors' insurance program. In the previous year, they represented 67.7 per cent of the total.

The report showed during the 1949 fiscal year benefits totaled $607 million, an increase of $95 million over 1948. They were paid to 2,600,000 persons, as compared with 2,200,000 in the preceding 12-month period.

The average benefit of a retired male with no dependents was $26.20 monthly, for a retired woman with no dependents, $20.40 for a retired worker and his wife, $24.70 for an aged widow, $20.70, and for a widowed mother with one child, $36.30.
