Fair And Warmer Well Presented By Traveling Cast

A large audience seemed to enjoy last night's performance of the Broadway hit, "Fair and Warmer," by New York's civic drama guild. Sponsored by the Medford 20-30 club to raise money for their youth fund, the play was one of best attended of any presented so far in the annual drama festivals.

The play was a lively farce in the tradition of unfailing crowd-pleasers and if gales of laughter are any indication, the audience left the auditorium well-pleased.

The two leading roles were handled by competent veterans with a lively sense of comedy and the roar of applause at the end of the play was meant chiefly for them.

The final production in this season's 20-30 club drama festival will appear at the senior high school auditorium April 22. It will be another comedy—the sprightly "Peg o' My Heart"—B.F.

Probation Officer To Speak For Principals

Miss Helen Busenbark, county deputy probation officer, will address the Jackson County Elementary Principals' association at its meeting Tuesday, March 7 at 7:30 p.m. at the courthouse, according to President Hugh Eskridge.

Her topic will be "Preventing and Correction of Juvenile Delinquency and How Schools Can Help."

The principals will consider inter-school activities for the spring period and other matters.
