Leo, University Lion, Takes Beatings Often At Florida Fraternity

Gainesville, Fla. (U.P.) — Leo the lion takes a real beating at the University of Florida.

Old Indian Skeleton Believed Discovered Near Illinois River

Carbondale, Ill. (U.P.) — Two amateur diggers have uncovered a rare archeological find, including 11 Hopewell Indian skeletons 1,000 years old, in a mound near the Washburn river.

The mound was found by Arkel Fischer, Carmi, Ill., high school athletic director, and Norbert Bingman, Carmi merchant. They turned the discovery over to Southern Illinois university.

Irvin Peithman, archeology curator of the university, said the discovery increases the knowledge of Hopewell Indian migration. He said Hopewell remains were found in Ohio about 80 years ago.
