Portland Meadows Racetrack Sold To 1st National Bank
 Portland, Ore., Mar. 20 — (U.P.) — The First National Bank of Portland today purchased the $2,000,000 Portland Meadows horse racing plant at a sheriff's sale on the Multnomah county courthouse steps.
 The bank's bid of $476,092.87 was the only offer received by Sheriff Terry Schruink and his deputies when the hammer banged.
 Physical properties of the plant were sold as result of the bank's foreclosure of a $428,000 mortgage.
 Kyle to Confer
 William P. Kyle, San Francisco, original organizer and operator of the Portland Meadows, said he will confer with bank officials later today in an attempt to regain control of the track on a lease basis. However, he said there may be other racing interests who also will seek to lease the track.
 "I am pretty sure Portland Meadows will have a spring opening," Kyle said, "whether we get it or not. I have lots of faith in Portland Meadows, particularly if the tax situation can be remedied."
 "The bank may get a better offer than mine, but we have a chance."

To Give Popultry Date At Meeting
 Timely information for Jackson county's rapidly growing poultry industry will be offered at the Central Point Grange hall Wednesday at 8 p.m. by two members of the Oregon State college faculty.
 Dr. E. M. Dickinson, poultry veterinarian from the college, will discuss poultry diseases and Noel L. Bennion, extension poultry specialist, will discuss the proper brooding and housing of chicks.
 First in Series
 The meeting will be the first of series of meetings to help maintain the high productivity of the county's 130,000 laying hens. Last year they produced nearly two million dozen eggs representing a gross income of $1,344,230—six per cent of the total agricultural income of the county.
 Preceding the meeting Wednesday night, members of the poultry program planning committee, a subcommittee of the county agriculture council, will meet in the county agent's office here to review their previous recommendations and to map out a suggested program for the year. Bennion will assist them in their work. The committee is composed of Lawrence Luy, chairman; Ike Dunford, secretary, and Dunbar Carpenter, Miles F. Doran, L. N. Surles, J. L. Wilson and Charles S. "Chuck" Taylor.

Portland Assured Of New Stadium
 Portland, Ore., Mar. 20 — (U.P.) — Portland Beaver rooters were assured today of a new home stadium by General Manager Bill Mulligan who said it will be at Southeast 82nd avenue and Holgate boulevard.
 Mulligan said plans call for an uncovered concrete grandstand and bleachers capable of seating approximately 17,000. He added that it will be built in such a manner that it can be gradually enlarged to seat 50,000.
 The present stadium on Vaughn street was condemned by the city council two years ago after inspection indicated it was a fire hazard.
