Three Local Players Injured In Accident

Three local baseball players who have been working out down in California to get in shape for the coming pro season had a bit of tough luck their first few days down south but now are back on the playing field.

Reports here said that John "Tex" Chandler, Marvin Cartwright and Floyd Shotwell w in an auto accident in which all were shaken up but not seriously hurt. Chandler was confined to a hospital over night but was released after observation.

The greatest ocean depth, near the island of Mindanao, in the Pacific, is 35,400 feet.

Corvallis Golf Ace Still Leads

Pebble Beach, Cal., Mar. 24—(U.P.)—Grace De Moss of Corvallis, Ore., scored her second golfing victory within a week yesterday by firing a three-day total of 225 in the 54-hole women's championship over the Monterey Peninsula Country club course.

Last weekend, the Oregon State star successfully defended her Pebble Beach championship for women in another tournament of the California women's circuit.

Miss De Moss shot a gross 76 in the final round yesterday, which added to 73 and 76 cards in previous rounds, gave her a three stroke advantage over Edean Anderson, Montana State champion from Helena. Miss Anderson's 74 was yesterday's best 18 holes.

MEDFORD TRIBUNE SPORTS

Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

Aintree, Eng., Mar. 24—(U.P.)—Fearless Fraley cantered around the Grand National race course at Aintree today and, as the tumbling Capt. Archibald Becher said in 1839:

Oscar Fraley

"How unpleasant water can be without brandy."

Captain Becher gave his name to the most famous jump of the 30 which are scattered over the four and a half mile course when he abruptly left his mount in an unscheduled parting the year the race was inaugurated.

Even so, he did it the easy way. Old Fearless ran them without benefit of horse. After all, 25 out of 30 horses weren't able to negotiate those hedgethorn jumps in two races yesterday and my insurance doesn't cover parting your hair with a hoof.

Forty-nine steeds with as many maniacs aboard will take off from the starting line tomorrow in the quarter-mile dash to the first jump. It's going to look like the first at Balaclava and it's an even 12 to 1 against any one nag going the distance.

That starting straightaway looks like roughly the distance from New York to Chicago when you stand there at the post. Then there are two rail fences before they alleviate the monotony with a rail ditch and fence. Next is another pair of rail fences before you come to Captain Becher's personal Waterloo.

Becher's brook is an innocent looking obstacle, until you take off over its 4 foot 10 inch barrier. On the other side it drops down over a 5 foot 6 inch brook like an elevator in the Empire State building. Everybody who clears this hazard safely should expect to live to a ripe old age.

Farther on they pile into Valentine's brook. From there it's a breeze to the home stretch, marred only by five more rail fences, and then the guys who stage this masterpiece of mayhem really get rough.

Along in front of the stands there's a six foot open ditch with a five foot two inch fence at the far side. If you make that one, there's another water jump coming up, a 15 foot patch of aqua with a fence to set it off.

That's Aintree and the Grand National, bub.

And if you've managed to sit your horse that long, he's still on his legs, somebody hasn't fallen in front of you, the cinch hasn't busted or you aren't in the hospital, well, there's only one thing left.

You do it all over again—for it's twice around for the money.

N.C. And C.C. NCAA Finals

New York, Mar. 24—(U.P.)—North Carolina State, sliding as easily as a southern drawl, and City College of New York, puffing like an overloaded subway, moved into the eastern NCAA basketball finals today and will meet tomorrow night for the right to play the western playoff winner for the national championship.

North Carolina State, led by its driving forwards, Sam Ranzino and Dick Dickey, had little trouble beating Holy Cross, 87 to 74 last night before a crowd of 18,000 at Madison Square Garden.

CCNY, winner of the national invitation tournament and aiming for an unprecedented sweep of college basketball's two major championships, barely beat Ohio State, 56 to 55, in the opening game of the eastern playoffs.

Portland Bevos Show Power At Bat And Win

Riverside, Cal., Mar. 24—(U.P.)—Joe Brovia, Frank Whitman and Johnny Lucadello formed their own "murderers' row" today at the Portland Beaver training camp.

Despite a 10 to 5 drubbing by Los Angeles yesterday, Brovia pounded out three doubles, Whitman got a triple and a double and Lucadello connected with a double and two singles.

Men Golfers First Round

C. W. Leonard, seeded No. 2 in the men's spring golf handicap at Rogue Valley Country club, won the first match in the opening round of the championship flight this week by bouncing Ben Trowbridge 6 and 5.

In the second flight John Moffat edged Earl Leever 2 and 1. Other first round tiffs are slated for completion by Sunday night. Additional activity at the country club this week-end will be junior classes at 9:30 a.m. Saturday if weather permits.

Manager George Harrington and Ike Staples of the club are scheduled to attend an Oregon Golf association session in Eugene tomorrow. Plans will be initiated for the state tourney at Eugene in July.

Rogue Valley Pro Hugh Starkweather said this morning that Ken Tyson, assistant pro here for a short time, had returned to Seattle. Dom Provost Jr., Rogue Valley member and University of Oregon links ace now on spring vacation, played here yesterday. He will be in southern Oregon through Sunday.

Bradley Vies UCLA Tonite

Kansas City, Mo., Mar. 24—(U.P.)—The first hurdle standing between Bradley University's Braves and a second crack at national basketball supremacy shaped up today as their toughest one.

The first-round draw pitted Coach Forrdy Anderson's top-flight Peoria, Ill., quintet against U.C.L.A., the only club rated much of a chance to keep the Braves from sweeping through the western NCAA playoffs opening tonight in municipal auditorium.

A pair of oft-beaten outsiders—Baylor and Brigham Young—meet in the other western semi-final clash.

Bradley was a 5½-point favorite to beat U.C.L.A., the Pacific Coast conference champion, while Brigham Young, the Skyline Six titlist, rated a six-point edge over Southwest conference co-champion Baylor.

Instructors Best 'V' Ball

Teachers team defeated the Businessmen in the final round of the YMCA-sponsored Volleyball league last night to win the title for the first year of the loop. Earlier in the evening the Teachers had taken the measure of the Lumbermen in a prelim round.

The instructors downed the Lumbermen team 15 to 13 and 15 to 7 but had a bit more difficulty in taking over the Businessmen. It took the teachers four games to win this final round with scores of 15 to 13, 15 to 9, 10 to 15 and 15 to 6.

Members of the Teachers team were Lee Ragsdale, manager; Frank Roelandt, Fred Spiegelberg, Bob Newland, Les Robertson, Ken Hulburt and Alex McDonald.

On the Businessmen's team were Bill Leever, Norton Smith, Dave Koblik, Bill Blackledge, Bob Rector (manager), Morrie Leonard, Don Whalin and Joe Lester.

Junior College Cage Tournament

Hutchinson, Kan., Mar. 24—(U.P.)—Teams from Utah, California, Mississippi and Kansas remained in the running today for the National Junior College Basketball championship.

The Weber Wildcats of Ogden, Utah, gained the tournament semi-finals last night by defeating Amarillo, Tex., 72-67, and a short time later City College of Los Angeles qualified to meet Ogden in the semi-finals tonight by defeating Bremerton, Wash., 74-51.

The other semi-final tonight will send Garden City, Kan., against the Northeast Mississippi Tigers of Boonville, Miss. These two teams gained the semi-finals with triumphs Wednesday night.

Winners tonight will collide tomorrow night for the 1950 tournament championship.
