In fact, they say they won't vote for any candidate who lets posters of himself be put on trees and fences along the highways. They said that sometimes a defeated candidate's poster will hang on trees and fences for years. They prefer "trees as nature made them."

Canada Approves Production Super Jet Fight Planes

Montreal, Que. — (U.P.) — Canada's pride of the air, the F-86 super-jet fighter, will be in mass production before the end of 1950. The sleek, single-engine aircraft, dubbed the world's fastest after a prototype's record-breaking flight here last year, now is under production at the giant Canadair plant here. It has an acknowledged speed of more than 700 miles an hour and a flying ceiling of 40,000 feet. Canadian air experts have expressed confidence the F-86 will provide the nation with increased prestige in world aeronautical circles. Canadair officials said the first F-86 will wheel off the assembly lines in August. By Christmas, the majority of the 100 ordered by the federal government will have been placed in the hands of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Engine From U. S. The world speed record of 670.9 miles per hour, compared favorably with the British Supermarine Spitfire jet fighter and also the CF-100 all-Canadian jet, officials said.

General Electric company plants in the United States will produce the much-discussed J-47 jet engine for the F-86. Described as the "most powerful to date," 5,000 pounds thrust horsepower in flight. Even at that, Canadian Air Force chiefs want more power for their air fighter. Canadair executives hinted the Avro Orenda engine eventually may replace the J-47 as the standard unit for the F-86. Official details of the Orenda remain R.C.A.F. "top secret" property.

Life Of Carefree Dog Recommended Pattern For All

New York — (U.P.) — Frances Hartsook believes people would be happier if they led a dog's life. Miss Hartsook, who for the last 12 years has been studying dog and human behavior, contends the Fidos of this world are happier and better adjusted than most of their masters. The dogs have a philosophy of living which humans might well follow, she said.

Fido lives each moment. He doesn't worry about the doghouse shortage or where the next bone is coming from. Miss Hartsook admitted that humans hardly can go that far in patterning after a dog's life. But she said they could stop worrying about things which 99 times out of 100 never happen anyway.

Admittedly, she said, this security for dogs doesn't apply to all mutts. A few strays have to be taken care of by the welfare state—the city dog pound and the A.S.P.C.A. She spoke about the dogs she meets in her daily job. Miss Hartsook is director of the Flag Dog Training School in Manhattan. Most of the dogs she trains come from the "upper classes."

Obedience training is given both to the dogs and their owners. "With the owner in command," she explained, "he sees things from a dog's point of view. He becomes adjusted to the dog and knows what the animal is capable of in the way of obedience."

The veteran trainer is opposed to boarding schools for dogs. Under such a training system, she contends, the dog learns strict obedience to his instructor but can be a little hellion as far as his master is concerned.
