

Club Organized For Teen-Agers At Jacksonville

Jacksonville, Mar. 30—B. H. Johnson, Jacksonville chief of police, announced today the organization of a teen-age club for youth of this vicinity, and the Griffin Creek and Applegate areas. Organization of the club is the culmination of efforts by Johnson during the past month in cooperation with city council members, merchants, Dick Boyd, superintendent of schools; Lettermen's club of Jacksonville schools and teen-agers of the community.

E. E. McIntyre, local merchant, has donated use of the entire upper floor of his store building on California street for headquarters and activities of the club.

Self Supporting
It is planned to make the organization self-supporting and operated by the teen-agers with supervision.

A meeting will be held this evening in the city hall when Johnson will discuss hours and operation of the club with others instrumental in its organization.

Renovation of the headquarters will get underway Saturday and open house is planned for Friday evening, April 7, when modern dancing will be featured.

It is also planned to have a snack bar for serving ice cream, cold drinks, pie, coffee and candies.

Donors Named
Some of the townsmen donating time and effort in readying the headquarters are Mayor Albert Hackert, Scotty Matheny, J. C. McKim and Peter Shafer. Merchants of the town have given wholehearted support and among those donating contributions are Ben's Food market, J.ville club, Kottage kitchen, Otto's Service station, Miller's grocery, Coleman hardware, Jacksonville Cold storage, Jacksonville barbershop, Kitchen's Service station, Taylor drugs and Kimball Real estate. A. K.

OUTSTANDING CRIPPLE—Miss Berneice Smith, Enterprise, Ore., has been named the nation's outstanding crippled person. Gov. Douglas McKay, left, is shown presenting her with an Easter Seal agency citation signifying that honor in connection with the Easter seal campaign. Witnessing the ceremony is Jesse Rosebaum, LaGrande, president of the seal agency in Oregon.

Owens of Medford also made sizeable contributions.

The club will be operated on basis of membership which may be secured at a very nominal charge by contacting Loretta Marie Clay, secretary-treasurer of the club at Jacksonville high school, through Jerry Powloski, president of the Lettermen's club, or Paul Hardy, vice-president.

It is also hoped to include younger children in club activities.

Johnson expressed the belief that closer cooperation between law enforcement officers and youth diminishes delinquency problems.
