

Blow Pipe Firm Sold; Expansion Plans Revealed

Entire stock of the Anderson Blow Pipe Company, Inc. here has been purchased by B. B. Ramsey and owners of the Medford Steel Company, and the pipe firm has been renamed Medford Blow Pipe Company, Inc., according to Ramsey, president of the new corporation. Ramsey said that although the name has been changed, the physical location, 1242 North Central avenue, and the telephone number, will remain the same.

Purpose of the reorganization, Ramsey said, is to provide closer association between the blow pipe business and steel firm, which will bring to industrial organizations of the area more complete facilities for fabrication and installation of blow pipes, burners and other needs.

Business Expansion
Manufacture of heavy fans and blowers here instead of shipping them in from out of state will represent an expansion of the business and will bring additional payroll to the valley as well as keeping money here. It was pointed out. The company will do general industrial sheet metal work.

Other officers of the firm are Fred Hawkins, B. L. Wood, Homer Bell and Miles Stuart, who have been engaged in steel metal fabrication locally for several years. Ramsey for the past several years has been active here in the blow pipe enterprise. He has had 20 years experience on the Pacific coast in the work.

Tax Readjustment Reported in City Of Rogue River

Rogue River, Mar. 31—A readjustment of property valuations by the Rogue River tax-equalization board and state and county tax officials has been accomplished in this community, it was reported this week by the group.

The board, which includes Douglas Buckle, Howard Sowles, Fay Stiehl and Dave Gelvin, met Monday with C. A. Myers, county assessor, and Harry Logan, appraisal engineer for the state tax commission. They gathered to complete the task of equalizing valuations within the community.

Arrangement Made
Members reported that a satisfactory arrangement has been worked out which the committee feels will meet with the approval of the majority of property owners.

Logan has supplied the committee with a map of all properties in the city, showing the new valuations for the coming year. Arrangements are being made whereby it will be available to property owners. Foot frontage values have been lowered in most parts of the city, which will result in lower land evaluations, the committee reported, and some of the acreage tracts in the city have been increased in value to achieve valuation.

'Worst' Cases Adjusted
"A few of the 'worst' cases have been adjusted," it was reported, and the plans which have been worked out will, it is believed, bring about a general reduction of valuations throughout the city.

Buckle called attention to the fact that any person who is dissatisfied with his new assessed property valuation may appear before the county board of equalization, which meets for two weeks starting the second Monday in May at the courthouse.

Cooperation Cited
Equalization committeemen say they have received "excellent cooperation" from Myers and Logan, a Mr. Hillman and A. A. Selander of the state tax commission, who have been working on the matter since it was first brought up several months ago.

The subject of property assessment came to public attention recently, when a mass meeting of taxpayers from Rogue River, Gold Hill and Central Point met at the courthouse to protest appraisals which had been made. Formation of the committee followed, and a study of the entire tax picture in that area.

Nurse Board Warns Of License Deadline

Portland, Mar. 31—The state board of nurse examiners today reminded practical nurses that it will be necessary for them to receive licenses to practice under provisions of a law passed by the 1949 Oregon legislature. There are about 2,300 persons working in the state as practical nurses, the board reported, and up to this week only 359 have filed application for licenses.

The waiver clause, which allows licensure without examination, is effective only until July 1, 1950, the board said, and suggested that those who might qualify for licensure take advantage of the opportunity to become licensed without examination.

Copies of the law, and license application, may be obtained from the board at 407 Governor building, Portland 4.

Snowpack at Crater Lake Park Shrinking

After a near-record depth of 181 inches Tuesday, the snow pack at Crater Lake National park has shrunk to 152 inches in the past several days of balmy spring weather. There has been no snowfall at the park in the last 24 hours, park headquarters in Medford said this morning.

Roads and snow at the lake are now wet and slushy, but visitors planning to travel through the park today should carry chains. They may be necessary in some places, headquarters reported.

West Coast Lines Will Inaugurate Freight Shipments

Seattle, Wash., Mar. 31—(U.P.) The 22 communities served by West Coast airlines will be able to make direct air freight shipments to all parts of the world beginning June 1, General Traffic and Sales Manager Robert England said today.

Fast connections will be made with the trunk lines at points dually served—at Medford, Eugene, Portland and Seattle—offering a generally lower rate for large shipments on an airport-to-airport basis, England said.

Perishable products, such as cut flowers and bulbs, fruits, turkey eggs and poult, baby chicks and eggs, and mushrooms, rank high in air freight shipments, as do emergency shipments of key machinery repair parts and tools for major industries.

Shipments weighing as much as 1,000 pounds, depending on size, may be handled, England said.

Seattle, March 31—(U.P.)—West Coast airlines today announced a schedule change on its north-bound evening flight to accommodate Albany-Corvallis beginning April 1.

The new schedule will arrive at Albany-Corvallis at 6:39 p.m., departing at 6:41 on its flight to Seattle. Previously, flight 10 was listed as "no-stops" at the Oregon airport due to lack of airport lighting facilities.

YMCA Teen-Age Saturday Program Plans Announced

Details of a continuing program of teen-age entertainment and dancing programs to be given at the Medford YMCA each Saturday night were announced today by "Y" officials.

Alternating Saturday evenings will be devoted to junior high and senior high school students. Tomorrow from 7:30 to 10 p. m. there will be a square dance session for junior high students under the charge of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Ragsdale.

Dance at 10 p. m.
At 10 p. m., senior teen-agers will be welcome to attend a ball room dance session to juke box music.

Starting a week from tomorrow and continuing on alternate Saturdays, senior high school members will enjoy ball room dancing starting at 8 p. m. Squares may also be danced if they are requested.

In a different room each Saturday for five more weeks instruction in ball room dancing will be given by Mrs. Norman E. Hand for teen-agers who register at the "Y" desk. The classes will be from 7:30 to 9 p. m.

The change is made when the seasonal change in official sunset allows a daylight landing at that time, officials said.

NAMED AMBASSADOR

Belgrade, Mar. 31—(U.P.)—Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir Popovic has been appointed Yugoslav ambassador to the United States, succeeding Sava Kosanovic, an authoritative source said today.

Research scientists have found that there are at least three kinds of viruses which can cause polio. Infection by one kind doesn't always result in immunity against the other two.
