Violin-Piano Recital Closes Civic Music Concert Series

(By Mrs. E. E. Gore)

The highly entertaining, successful and educational series of 1949-50 concert series of the Jackson County Civic Music association was brought to a brilliant close Saturday night by presentation of a joint violin and piano recital.

Seldom has it been the privilege of Medford concert-goers to hear a more outstanding concert. Embracing as it did violin arrangements of most notable art works, such as Bach's "Air for the G String," arranged by Rabinof, the "Sonata in E-flat for Violin and Piano" by Beethoven and the herculean "Concerto in D-minor" by Wieniawski. Rabinof played with great power an passion and superb technical skill.

He was accompanied by his wife, Sylvia Rabinof, who played not only her own solo group but also piano parts for her husband's numbers entirely from memory. Not a note of printed music was in sight throughout the program which, considering the demands upon her musicianship and the intricacies of the music, is regarded as a most unusual feat.

So well known are these young artists, through their many concerts and exhaustive radio programs and so much has been written and said about their audience appeal, both in Europe and in Canada as well as in the United States, that Medford should be delighted to have shared in their artistic achievement and their popularity in the present spring concert tour.

A group of three piano solos, "My Beloved," Chopin-Liszt, "Dance of the Gnomes," Liszt and "Grand Polonaise Brillant" by Chopin, were done with much artistic feeling and technical skill. Her encore was a charming number, modern in style and harmony, "Soldiers March" from the "Pinto Suite."

Appealing to popular musical taste, the violinist played "Jane Shakes Her Hair" from "Hexapodi" by Robert Russell Bennett and an arrangement of "Carmen Fantasy" by Bizet-Maxman that was very much liked not only for its melodic value but because of its display of violin technique.

Church Class Holds Dinner And Party At Bohnert Home

Gingham and overalls set the mood for a party to which all Loyal Workers of the First Christian church were bidden last Tuesday evening. The party was at the Arnold Bohnert ranch.

All guests were directed on arrival to Bohnert Station BARN by Traffic Officer Arnold Bohnert where they were registered for the dinner before attending a fast-moving basketball game.

The dinner bell was rung by President Al Schroeder, and the dining room was gayly decorated with spring flowers and nests of Easter eggs guarded by Bambi the deer, Flower the skunk and Thumper the rabbit. Guests at each table were greeted by "strangers from balloon land."

"Truth or Consequences" was the highlight of the evening, with the Rev. Holly Roy Jarvis acting as master of ceremonies in true Ralph Edwards manner. Paying consequences and receiving prizes were Mr. and Mrs. E. Ronald Rice, Mrs. Mabel Sims, M. E. Olson, Floyd Putman and Frank Heller.

"Stop the Music" was the next feature, with Mrs. Sims officiating. Mrs. Wayne Troxell won the grand prize.

At the close of the evening a candlelight devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Eloise Winkler.

About 35 Loyal Workers attended the party.

Sorority To Hold Theatrical Party

Plans for a "theatrical party" were made at the meeting of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority held April 3 at the Girls' Community club.

The party will be held at the housing project tonight at 7:30 o'clock and is for members and their invited guests.

Plans were also made for other business and social meetings for later this month and for the annual "Founders' day" on May 1. At the close of the business meeting Mrs. Roy Howe presented as her program topic, "Pioneer Life in Oregon" in the continued study of Oregon history.

On April 5, 7 and 8, members of the sorority sold Easter seals for the Oregon Society for Crippled Children and Adults. This is the second year in which the sorority has assisted in the sale of Easter seals, one of the welfare projects in which the group takes an active interest.

Eagle Point Unit Plans Meeting for Thursday

Eagle Point—Eagle Point Extension unit will meet at the home of Mrs. E. R. Chamberlain Thursday, April 13, at 10:30 a.m. The project, "Broiled Dinners," will be presented in the forenoon and a lesson on home drying of fruit and vegetables will be given in the afternoon.

A planned luncheon will be served at noon and the usual 10 cents charge will be made if table service is furnished.

Eileen Pollack will care for pre-school age children and mothers are reminded that children should be brought no earlier than 10 a.m. and called for no later than 4 p.m.

Members having snapshots of themselves are asked to bring them to this meeting and those having none are to come prepared to have them taken.

University Student Back From New York

Miss Eleanor Meeker was to return to Willamette university today after having spent Easter vacation in New York with her mother, Mrs. Clarence A. Meeker.

Yesterday Miss Meeker and her mother spent the day with the Rev. Alfred Wycoff and family, Cliffside Park, N. J. The Rev. Mr. Wycoff is a cousin of the late Mayor Clarence Meeker of Medford and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wycoff of Ashland.

While in New York Miss Meeker attended the opera and a number of plays. She attended a performance of "As You Like It" with Katherine Hepburn starring, saw "Lost in the Stars" and went to the Metropolitan Opera house for a performance of "La Traviata." Mrs. Meeker and her daughter also spent a day at "United Nations" headquarters at Lake Success.

Applegate Extension Makes Festival Plans At Meeting Wednesday

Applegate—Plans for participation in the Annual Homemakers' Festival were made at the meeting of Applegate Extension unit held at the home of Miss Mollie Ray, Wednesday. Members making lampshades will enter a display of these articles and the unit also will lead in group singing.

Two members will take luncheon tickets. The festival will be held at Central Point Grange hall May 3, and represents the culmination of efforts in county extension work.

Miss Eula Wintermote gave the demonstration Wednesday on "Improved Home Lighting," which included a study of types of bulbs and shades and their selection in regard to location in the house and type of work being done there. She also gave proper location of switches and effects of wall paper, rugs, etc. on light produced.

Some time was given to selection of tentative projects for next year's study, the group selecting "low cost remodeling of homes and decorating" as the major problem.

Officers for the following club year were elected and included Mrs. Robert Webb, chairman; Mrs. Lance Offenbacher, vice chairman; Mrs. W. W. Ziegler, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Lee Port, librarian.

Mrs. Stella Winingham received the surprise gift presented during the luncheon hour.

Twenty-one women attended.

Mrs. Helen Dixon of Medford and Mrs. Bill Winingham as guests, the latter becoming a member.

"Broiled Dinners" will be the subject of the May demonstration and will be given by local leaders, Mrs. Lance Offenbacher and Mrs. Clarence Meier, at the latter's home. Installation of officers also will be included that day, as will a report on cancer control by Mrs. Dave Winingham and Mrs. Clifton Childers.

The meeting date will be moved a week later, May 10, owing to the Central Point festival being scheduled for the regular date, first Wednesday of the month.

T. Texas Tyler Sets Personal Appearance

The Rogue Valley ballroom announced today that T. Texas Tyler, noted western dance band leader and vocalist, will appear here in person on April 13.

The bandleader is fast moving into the nation's top spot as a song stylist and composer of western tunes, advance publicity releases say. In a recent nationwide survey of leading disc jockey programs, Tyler placed second in popularity and record sales.

WARM SPRINGS ROOT FESTIVAL ATTENDED BY RECORD CROWD

Warm Springs, Ore., Apr. 10 — (U.P.) — The largest crowd in history, an estimated 3,000, attended the annual Root festival at Warm Springs Indian reservation Sunday.

Among the most colorful visitors were Indians from the Klamath Falls, Umatilla and Yakima reservations. Shortening of the distance from Portland by 50 miles, the new Warm Springs highway brought more visitors from that city than ever before.

IN TRIBAL REGALIA

Most of the older Indians were dressed in full tribal regalia. But younger groups dressed just like any other Americans. Indian girls wore the latest in millinery and fashions.

An abundance of salmon, venison, fried chicken, fruit and pastries made up for the scarcity of roots, due to the severe winter. Food had to be served in relays because of the number attending.

Indians from Toppenish, Wash., played a baseball game with a Warm Springs team during the morning. The noon feast was followed by a rodeo.
