Museum Curator To Be Selected Soon by Society

Selection of a curator for the Jackson county museum, which will be opened about May 1 in the former county court house at Jacksonville, will be made within the next few days, it was announced at the meeting last evening of the Southern Oregon Historical Society, Inc.

Miss Claire Hopley, president of the society, appointed a committee including Robert Dodge, E. C. Ferguson, Mrs. Effie Birdseye, Ed Kubli and Clinton Smith to survey applications for the curator position and choose the candidate believed best fitted for the work.

The curator will be entrusted with receiving, cataloging, labeling and arranging the display of all heirlooms and other items of historical interest in the museum. The curator will also be entrusted with arrangements for greeting of visitors and furnishing such information concerning exhibits and historical background as may be requested.

The historical society is arranging for publication of a booklet carrying a condensed history of Jacksonville and the old court house, together with many fine pictures of other pioneer Jacksonville buildings. The booklet will be made available to museum visitors.

Work on the booklet is being done by Ernest Rostel of the state highway commission public utility department. The department is cooperating in the museum effort because, as Mr. Rostel pointed out, it is realized that the historical display is destined to become one of the state's outstanding tourist attractions. Promotion of tourist traffic is the department's objective and Oregon's features such as Crater Lake are advertised in magazines of national circulation.
