Firms Conducting New Type Contest For Women's Clubs

A unique contest for Medford club women is being carried on in Medford this week by Brophy's jewelry store for the Holmes and Edwards company. Each day, Tuesday through Saturday, one Medford women's club is decorating and setting a dinner table in the store, and a winner will be selected by public vote.

Only one vote may be cast, it is stated, but the voter may view the entire series and cast a vote at any time for his choice. First prize is a chest of Holmes and Edwards silver, and the remaining four prizes are pieces of hollow ware.
 The first table setting Tuesday was by a committee from the Junior Service League, Mrs. William Thorndike and Mrs. Norton Smith. The two league members first laid the table with a pale green damask cloth, and then set it with Danish Princess silver and Rosenthal's Sovereign china, which has a pale green and gold design.

The centerpiece was of white daisies and white snapdragons in a cut glass bowl, arranged with white candles in silver holders. The setting also included crystal water goblets and silver serving dishes.

Wednesday's contest entry was for chapter AA of the PEO sisterhood and was arranged by Mrs. Charles W. Lemery and Mrs. John A. Graff. Their color scheme was pink and gold, with a pink damask cloth as a background. The silver pattern they selected was Lovely Lady, and the china was French Limoges with cobalt blue and gold edging and a center design of pink roses.

Goblets, cups and saucers were of antique Venetian glass heavily encrusted with gold. The china and Venetian glass belong to Mrs. Lemery, the glass being about 150 years old and of rare beauty.

Mrs. Lemery and Mrs. Graff completed the table with tiny urn-shaped containers of pink and gold to hold cigarettes and ash trays of pink china edged with gold. Miniature glass swans stood at each corner of the table.
 The centerpiece was of pink snapdragons and stock, arranged in a silver basket, and four tall pink candelabra completed the centerpiece.

Today's setting will be by the Lady Lions, Friday the Kiwanian Dames will enter the contest and Saturday's entry will be by the Medford Garden club. The general public is invited to visit the store, view the contest entries and cast a vote.

Annual Spring Concert Given by Philharmonic

(By Mrs. E. E. Gore)
 The annual spring concert of the Philharmonic Society of Southern Oregon, of which Richard D. Werner is the musical director and organizer, was given Tuesday evening at the high school auditorium. Bruno Pellegrini is associate conductor and Miss Melba Chehak is assistant conductor.

The hall was comfortably filled with the usual enthusiastic and representative music lovers of the southern Oregon community. Also many new faces were noted, there being many out-of-town guests who, in town for various musical and other week-end activities, remained for the entertainment offered by the concert.

The program exemplified well-known and popular vocal and instrumental numbers from both light opera and grand opera. The opening number was gems from "The Merry Widow" by Lehár, played by the orchestra and followed by the "Vilija" aria sung in enticing style and excellent voice by Medford's popular young vocalist, Tresa McMannis Matalack.

The second number was an opera skit, choruses from "Linda" in modern style with touches reminiscent of the south, composed and arranged by Mr. Werner. Mr. Werner's flights into the realm of composition are always original and stimulating, as was this. It was in four parts: Solo, "Treat Me Right" based on a libretto discovered by the late Ed Andrews, and sung by Mrs. A. G. McMillin; "Hallowe'en," sung by Marie Guttenfelder; "Linda Lou" sung by Robert Corliss and "Lament" for chorus and orchestra.

The introduction of two ballet groups from the dance studio of Miss Colleen Hope proved highly entertaining. The dancers were attractively costumed and showed the aesthetic skill of Miss Hope and her group of 14 young students. The moot question of whether or not ballet has a suitable place in opera would surely be answered affirmatively by the people listening to this opera concert. Both Clarke, district chaplain; Mrs. Licklider, Gold Star Mothers.

Other auxiliary guests were Mrs. Bertha Smith, Grants Pass; Mrs. Jewell Clayton, Illinois Valley; Mrs. O. O. DeBerry, Medford; Mrs. Vada Dahl, Gold Hill; Mrs. Virginia Kratz, Shady Cove; Mrs. Williams, president of the Rogue River Civic club. Mrs. Hopkins is also district president and Mrs. Hawkins is district secretary.

Refreshments closed the evening, with Mrs. Mattie Addington and a committee in charge.

smugglers' scene and the solo, "Habencra" interpreted by June Popham, contralto, a highlight of the program.
 Mr. Skala then sang "Oh Thou Sublime Sweet Evening Star" which proved, as did his first number that he is a popular and capable artist and a fine asset to Medford's musical colony. The majesty, dignity and beauty of the finale "Hail Bright Abode," Tannhauser, brought a heart-warming concert to a successful close.
 Mr. Werner announced his program and gave interesting and educational program notes that were much appreciated.

groups were in oriental style and the music from "Hymn to the Sun," "Rimsky-Korsakov" and ballet music from "Aida" by Frances Thrun's beautiful contralto voice was very effective in the aria, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" from Samson and Delilah, Saint-Saens.

After the intermission Ludwig Skala, baritone, delighted with the "Prologue" from "Pagliacci," which was followed by "Bell Chorus" always a charming and pleasing novelty. "Elsa's Dream" from "Lohengrin," rendered with artistic restraint and satisfying understanding by Loree Ford, soprano, was followed by the music preceding the entrance into the cathedral from the same opera, given by chorus and orchestra.
 Selections from "Carmen," included the entr'acte, Act III, the
