Rogue River Club Holds Flower Show; Hundreds Attend

Rogue River—The spring flower show held Saturday at the Live Oak Grange hall in Rogue River was an outstanding event, and hundreds of visitors viewed the beautiful display during the afternoon and evening.

Lively interest was shown by the new exhibitors who welcomed the constructive criticism of the more experienced gardeners and everyone expressed appreciation of the careful work of the judges. The judges were Mrs. Olen Anspiger and Mrs. Elmer Wilson of Medford and the national horticulture chairman of the Federated Garden Clubs of America, Mrs. Harry O. Smith of Cave Junction.

Before the opening of the show the judges and their guest, Mrs. Stanton Rowell of Grants Pass, were luncheon guests at the home of Mrs. Paul Hughes, president of the Rogue River Garden club. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Sam Bell, Mrs. Percy LeBrun and Mrs. Walter Carroll.

There was a conservation exhibit in the flower show as well as several commercial ones. Shrubs, trees and flowering plants were displayed by the Pleasant View nursery of Grants Pass and the Park Landscape company of Rogue River, while single specimens of many varieties of daffodils comprised Frank Hall's exhibit. Among them were some unusually rare ones. Other commercial exhibits were shown by the Del Rogue Feed store and Carl Meyers hardware. The Gail Grocery store display included a registered lamb as a feature of interest to the children, and the Recce Catering company contributed chess pies for the tea table.

All junior exhibits were very good and a special mechanical display by Bill Dixon was classed separately.

Sweepstakes awards went to Mrs. Marjory Dunham for primroses and to Mrs. Ruby Hughes for a song representation, "The Music Goes Round and Round."

Special awards went to Mrs. Betty Carroll for an arrangement of cherry blossoms, and to four entries under song representations. These were Mrs. Dorothy Savage for "Woodland Echoes," Mrs. Mae LeBrun for "China Girl," Mrs. Betty Carroll for "Down in Arkansas" and Mrs. Betty Wolford for "The Old Oaken Bucket."

Frank Hall took first place under commercial awards with his display of daffodils, Myers hardware won a blue ribbon, Park landscape a first and Del Rogue a first prize.

Shirley Dows won first prize for a junior arrangement and Dennis Chanler first prize for a potted plant. Bill Dixon won a special blue ribbon.

The Rogue River Garden club extends thanks to everyone who participated in or aided the show, and especially to Mr. and Mrs. Lester Savage who furnished a truck load of trees to decorate the Grange hall.

Two Fellowship Clubs To See Motion Picture

Westminster Fellowship club members of the Jacksonville and Central Point Presbyterian churches have been invited to meet at the Medford Presbyterian church Sunday at 6:15 p. m. to view a religious moving picture.

Following the film they will participate in a singespiration in the church parlors.

At last Sunday's meeting in Central Point, two of the members, Misses Doreene Jones and Mary Rupp, and the Rev. and Mrs. Joseph K. Swank, were honored guests during fellowship hour. The occasion was in the form of a surprise in observance of the honored guests' birthdays. Games were played and gifts presented.
