 Quakertown, Pa. (U.P.)—An angler was charged black market prices for a mess of fish he can't even eat. A justice of the peace decided the 13 fresh-caught trout in Frank Polinsky's creel were worth about $10 apiece, since Polinsky had jumped the gun in taking them. The season hadn't opened.

Population Gain In Oregon Shown By Vote Figures

By United Press
 Oregon's big population gain today was reflected in record registration of voters throughout the state.
 In Portland, the Multnomah county registrar's office expected about 250,000 persons to be registered when books are compiled later this month. The number would be some 15,000 more than the 1948 registration record.
 In Grants Pass, County Clerk Ben Coutant estimated that 15,100 persons had registered in Josephine county, about 2,000 more than were registered for the 1948 public election.
 In Astoria, registrations hold an edge of 297 over democrats in Clatsop county registration figures. The total registration was 14,347, with 7,367 republicans and 7,070 democrats. At the 1948 general election, republicans held a lead of 457.
 And in eastern Oregon, Baker county registration reached 8450 to top 1948's total of 8063 by 387.
 Democratic registrations lead the GOP in Multnomah county, while party registration was about equal in Josephine county. Baker county democrats had nearly an 1800 majority over the republicans.
 In 1950 the U. S. post office department will lose $500 million on its operations. That was the cost of the entire federal government in McKinley's time.

 Eda Zolezko was good for the eyes when she was a member of the American Legion auxiliary "top brass" that visited Camp White this week.
 For better than 10 years she has been the big wheel in charge of the unit's activities "up on the hill" in Portland. Took the job after husband Mike answered the last roll call 10 years ago and has been on the job and jump ever since.
 Legionette Zolezko, with a hint of frost in her hair and dark eyes that spark good humor, is untiring in her work for the comfort of disabled and sick veterans.

Three More Blows To Medic Career Fall on Sander

Manchester, N. H., Apr. 21—(U.P.)—Dr. Hermann N. Sander retreated to the role of "gentleman farmer" today after three more blows to his medical career in the wake of his accidental as a "mercy slayer" virtually shattered his prestige as a physician.
 Because his license was revoked by the New Hampshire board of registration in medicine, the 41-year-old Candia physician was dropped from the staffs of the Hillsborough County General hospital at Goffstown and the Elliott hospital here last night.
Membership Suspended
 At the same time, Dr. Mac F. Cahal, general counsel and executive secretary of the American Academy of General Practice, announced at Kansas City, Mo., that Sander's membership would have to be suspended because he had lost his license.
 All three organizations said Sander would not automatically be reinstated if his license were returned at the end of the two-month period when that state board said he could apply for a license reinstatement hearing. Sander would have to re-apply for membership.
Plows Ground
 Thus, stripped of his physician's privileges, Sander changed his white coat for overalls and plowed a plot of ground near his Candia home preparatory to spring planting.
 His suspension from the hospital at Goffstown was announced by Dr. Harold I. L. Loverud, president of the hospital board. It was at this same hospital where Sander's actions in the death last December 4 of Mrs. Abbie C. Borroto, 59, an incurable cancer patient, precipitated his trial.

Sheriff's Posse Schedules Rodeo At Fairgrounds

The Jackson County Sheriff's posse will present its annual rodeo at the fairgrounds June 10 and 11, it was announced today.
 Rodeo Valley Baseball, Inc., sponsors of the Medford Rogues in the Far West league, is cooperating with the posse by permitting use of the baseball diamond for the rodeo. The posse has pledged precaution to prevent injury to the infield turf, it was stated. The infield will be covered by sawdust to prevent cutting by horses hooves and the outfield will be roped off to prevent animals from straying out there. An entrance way will also be provided to permit the posse to bring its equipment on to the field, according to Mel Carpenter, business manager of the baseball club.
 About a month ago, the baseball club's park committee and posse representatives got together to thrash out joint use of the facilities this summer. The posse is building its own grounds on Ross lane but the new facilities will not be ready for the 1950 show.
 Carpenter pointed out that the club had gone to considerable expense to turf the baseball diamond under pressure from Far West league officials. Until this year Medford had the only unturfed diamond in the league and other teams brought pressure to the league office to have the local diamond sown to grass.
 Carpenter and Dick Kay, representing the posse, pointed out that their respective organizations were anxious to cooperate with the other and that joint use of the fairgrounds facilities was the result.

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

By VIRGINIA MacPHERSON
 United Press Correspondent
 Hollywood, Apr. 22—(U.P.)—Palm Spring and Las Vegas, both claiming to be the favorite mecca for tired movie stars, are waging a bitter tug-of-war for the title.
 Land-owners in the two sun-drenched resorts are building up to a rip-snortin' cross-the-border feud, and Hollywood's big names are watching gleefully to see who wins.
 Palm Springs, Cal., was ahead a few weeks back with an all-day circus carnival that lured even Jack Benny down for the week-end. City fathers also point out that Bob Hope, Frank Sinatra, Bill Powell, etc., think enough of the place to build fancy winter homes down there.
 Now Las Vegas, Nev., is climbing on top with a week-long celebration for the opening of its new $3,500,000 Desert Inn. Wilbur Clark, one-time gambling king, is footing the bills for a junket that's apt to out-dazzle the one Glenn McCarthy tossed last year in Houston.

BILL'S BLOOD NEEDED

Knoxville, Tenn. (U.P.)—Bill, a woolly sheep, got tired of his job at General hospital and went for a stroll. Authorities gave chase and returned him to his work, which is supplying blood for Wasserman tests.

Some Like To Gamble
 "But some of them do like to gamble," he admitted. "And we don't have any of that here."
 Clark said he'll give the celebrities plenty of that. He's also talked Edgar Bergen into coming up to crack jokes for the floor show.
 He admits this blow-out is costing him plenty.
 "But we're inviting everybody to use the roulette tables," he said. "If we're lucky, maybe we'll get some of it back."

"It's when I wake up in the morning that I feel old," says Ty Teorey who "head-mans" the arts, crafts and hobby shop here.
 New to his job, your reporter was feeling his way around and it was hard to believe that friend Teorey is a "Greybeard." He admits to 55 years, but the top of his head is not thinning much and surely no grey is visible.
 "I fought the battle of the medical corps," Ty said. He was raised in the Dakotas and an accident kept him stateside when his outfit shoved off. The war was over before he could return to duty.
 Ty is proud of his department and the men who are at work in it.

This morning the "mayor of Camp White" called. He is Leo Lamb, a "Bambo" since "we had it" with Spain.
 "When President McKinley called for 125,000 volunteers, I up and enlisted. Never been sorry since," he said.
 "Come out and watch me fly my kite," Leo said. "Fellow here rustled me 3,000 feet of string and if there is wind enough this morning I'm going to have some fun."
 A little later "the mayor" was on his way. His years are 76 and the way he gets around it is hard to believe the time that rests so lightly on his shoulders.

Signs of early summer: sunbathers on the warm sides of the barracks. Dozens of 'em have been noted these past warm afternoons.
 Will admit that the sun setting behind Table Rock is rivaled only by the beauties that unfolded from North Head and the Pacific when Old Sol is tiring and saying good night down Astoria way. Have been thrilled with the colors painted here the past evenings. Yep, Medford is going to be all right. Not so homesick now.

MUSKRAT NO MYSTERY
 Davenport, Ia. (U.P.)—Police captured a "strange animal" which had been reported "exciting dogs in the neighborhood," then turned to the humane officer, Henry Reimers, to solve the mystery of what they had caught. "That's no mystery," Reimers said, "it is just a muskrat. The mystery is how it got so far from the river."

Jacksonville Lions Plan Boy Scout Aid
 Jacksonville, Apr. 22—A pie social will be sponsored by the Jacksonville Lions club Thursday, April 27, in the U. S. hotel to benefit the local Boy Scouts fund for sending Jacksonville scouts to the national scout jamboree.
 Bidding on pies will be limited and coffee will be furnished by the Lions club Contributions of pies are solicited for the money raising event. Dick Boyd, superintendent of schools, is chairman in charge.
 At a meeting of the group Thursday night in the Presbyterian church, numerous visitors were present, including representatives from the Medford and Crater Lions club in Medford.
 Robert Church of the Medford office of the United States weather bureau spoke to the group regarding a suggested project. Lew Graves, republican candidate for county commissioner, was an after-dinner speaker.
