Approval of FCC Given Radio Net For Tree Farmers

The federal communications commission has approved the radio communications network application of the Southern Oregon Conservation and Tree Farm association, the group's secretary-manager, L. L. Simpson, was advised by wires from Washington, D. C., today.

Congressman Harris Ellsworth and Sen. Guy Cordon advised Simpson of the FCC approval for the net, which involves a remote-control broadcast station at the top of Roxy Ann butte.

Controls will be in the association's office in the Goldy building and in Simpson's home, permitting 24-hour service to members. Simpson said today that 22 mobile units of the network have so far been contracted for by 20 member companies of the association. He said that it is hoped to have 50 sets in operation by the end of the summer.

Some of the mobile sets will be in pickup trucks or automobiles, and some will be located at remote logging operations in all parts of the county, Simpson explained. It is believed the rapid communications afforded by the network will permit greater speed in spreading fire alarm, orders for equipment from distant operations, and generally improved service to member operators. It is hoped to have the network in operation before June 1.

Ashland Police Check Leads on Big Burglary

Ashland, May 4—Ashland police today are checking all possible leads in an effort to solve the largest burglary reported in Ashland in many years.

Sometime Tuesday night the Ashland Elks temple was entered through the reading room window and between $150 and $1500 in change was taken. The robbery was discovered Wednesday morning by the caretaker when he opened up the building. At noon today police here said they had no new developments to report although their investigation is continuing and Delbert Jones, exalted ruler of the Ashland Elks, has promised full cooperation with police in their effort to apprehend the thieves and recover the stolen funds.

Teachers to Exude Charm, More Poise

Philadelphia—(U.P.)—Remember the old school marm? You'd have a hard time finding her type in Philadelphia's public schools henceforth.

The board of education opened a charm school and school of personality development as a part of its in-service training courses for teachers.

Said the board to the teachers: "We will present as many hints as possible of ways and means to enhance your own charm and personality."

As a come-on, the board sent to all teachers brochures asking questions such as these:

Are you interested in how you look, in the impression you make on others?
Would you care to glimpse some of the newest fashions in clothes?

Would you like to know some of the hair-dos becoming to different types?
Are you up to the minute on the most recent helps in beauty culture and physical fitness?

Tourist Promotion To Be Talked Next Week

Representatives of the Oregon Advertising club and the travel information department of the state highway commission have asked the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce to make arrangements for a luncheon meeting here on Wednesday, May 10.

The purpose of the meeting will be a discussion of the tourist promotion and intra-state travel promotion progress of the highway commission with chamber members and others interested in the tourist industry in this part of the state. The group will meet at the Medford hotel.

CAA Chief Here Back From Northwest Trip

Grant Borquin, chief airport traffic controller here, has returned from a familiarization trip to Oregon and Washington towns, including Eugene, Salem, Portland, The Dalles, Seattle, Spokane and Yakima.

The trips are required of civil aeronautics officials each year so that they may become acquainted with methods and equipment at other airports.

Borquin said one of the best administration buildings he saw at any airport was a new one at Yakima, a city of about 55,000, which had modern equipment and facilities. It compared favorably with buildings at many larger airports Borquin said.

4-H SCHOOL SLATED

About 50 Jackson county 4-H club members will attend the annual 4-H summer school on the Oregon State college campus June 13 to 23, according to Rufus H. Cate Jr., county agent for club work. The students will be chosen from a list of qualified applicants by the executive committee of the Jackson County 4-H Leaders' association.

Man Admits Writing Worthless Checks

Richard A. Furrish, 26, Columbus, O., has admitted to city police that he wrote and issued about three worthless checks here that totaled $18. He was arrested last night and was to be arraigned this afternoon in justice court on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. He said he had come to Oregon with a magazine subscription crew but had quit his job a few days ago.
