

VOTE for ANDREW L. UNGER

For the Nomination of JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

MEDFORD DISTRICT, ON MAY 19
Democratic Party, and in November for election

I have been a resident taxpayer in Jackson County since 1923.

Am a Veteran of the War with Spain and the only Veteran running for the office of Justice.

Also, I am a lumberjack and working actively at it at the present time.
So I feel justified in asking for the support of all Veterans, Loggers and Lumbermen.

The U.S. Constitution says: "Excessive and Unreasonable Fines shall not be laid."

None the less, they have been, and are, being laid.

Truck Drivers, and Lumber Industry Drivers in particular are, and have been for quite some time, persecuted by such 'excessive and unreasonable' fines.

I promise to end such practices in so far as the statutory law will permit.
Favoritism has been shown in Southern Oregon, also. That, too, shall cease.

All shall stand equal in Justice Court. Positively no form of Favoritism shall prevail in any way. Equal Justice to all and favors to none shall be the hard and fast rule, and this rule shall not fail.

Nor do I believe any man should be returned to office "on his record."

Think well, Friends, Comrade Veterans, and Fellow Workers, and let your conscience be your guide.

And to the business man let me say that the Small Claims Court shall be re-established and maintained as provided by law.

Also, pensions to the aged, blind,
and helpless with no restrictions whatever.

Farm Meetings, Tours Slated in County This Week

Several meetings and tours of interest to farmers, livestock raisers or dairymen are scheduled this week, the county agent's office reported yesterday.

Young farmers of the county will hold an organizational meeting on Monday, May 15, at 8 p.m. in the courthouse.

The group will be formed of farmers between the ages of 20 and 35. Officers may be elected and by-laws considered.

Two sessions of small farmers councils are slated. The Old Stage road group will convene on Tuesday, May 16, at 8 p.m. at the home of F. J. Mitchell.

A meeting of the Shady Cove council is set for Thursday evening, May 18.

Cattle Club Tour

An Oregon Jersey Cattle club

tour is set for Tuesday and Wednesday. Representatives from all over the state will start the tour Tuesday morning at the E. D. Poyer ranch, Ashland.

The group will lunch in Lithia park and then go to the D. W. Mongold farm, Eagle Point. Wednesday morning they will commence at the John Reinhardt place in Josephine county. Then go to the R. E. Van Dusen ranch, Rogue River.

On Thursday a beef grading school and tour for local stockmen interested will begin at 10 a.m. at the George Nichols' place, Ashland, with Harry Lindgren, Oregon State college livestock specialist, in charge. The group will go to the R. H. Field ranch, Central Point, at 1:30 p.m. and to the John Bohmert farm, Central Point, at 3 p.m.

Swine Tour

A swine tour for southern Oregon growers is set to start at 9:30 a.m. on Friday, May 19, at the A. T. Lathrop farm, Central Point. The group will go to the ranch of Mrs. Hanley Heffernan about 11:30 a.m. Those on the tour will take sack lunches and eat at the Heffernan place. She will provide coffee. The tour will wind up at the Charles Elmore ranch on Thompson creek.

Swine men will check hog housing, sanitation, pasture utilization and feeding and management methods.

Seed producers particularly are invited to a meeting at the courthouse auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday. Discussion will emphasize control of injurious insect pests.

Autopsy Scheduled For Unidentified Man

Portland, Ore., May 13.—(U.P.) The Multnomah county coroner's office today scheduled an autopsy in the death of an unidentified man, about 60, found behind a billboard late Thursday.

An examination at the county morgue revealed that the man suffered severe burns on his back which police believed were caused by steam or hot water.

The body was clad in a plaid shirt and dark trousers.

DDT Dusting of Clover, Alfalfa, Lotus Proven Effective; Dollar-Cents Saving

Dusting ladino clover, alfalfa and lotus seed crops for control of lygus bugs in the Josephine-Jackson county area will pay large dividends and can mean the difference between a paying crop and little or no crop. L. G. Gentner, entomologist at the southern Oregon branch experiment station pointed out Saturday.

As dollar-and-cents evidence of the value of lygus bug dust control, Gentner explained that in 1949 the average ladino clover seed yield on fields that were dusted with DDT was more than twice that of non-dusted fields. With alfalfa seed, it is impossible to produce a profitable crop when heavy infestations of lygus bugs are present and the same is true for lotus seed production.

The ladino clover seed increase resulting from dusting is a striking example of the value of pest control measures. In 1948 only a few acres in Josephine county were dusted for lygus bug control and the average yield of seed per acre in the county was 57 pounds.

Money Return Told

However, in 1949, 68 growers dusted a total of 852 acres with DDT and the average yield per acre of clean seed was 141 pounds. In contrast with this, 98 growers with 566 acres who did not dust received an average of only 63 pounds per acre. At the government support price of $1.25 per pound for seed, the increased gross return to those who dusted was $97.50. After deducting $9.00 for cost of materials and two applications, there was still a net increase per acre of $88.50.

At $88.50 net increase per acre for the 1,418 acres of ladino clover seed grown in Josephine county in 1949, the increased income which might have been realized had the entire acreage been dusted, would have been $125,493. Comparable results were secured in Jackson county.

Control Achieved

Good control of lygus bugs on ladino clover was achieved last year with either two applications of 30 pounds of five per cent DDT dust per acre, or one application of 20 pounds of 10 per cent DDT dust. Applications can be made either by airplane or with ground dusters but should be made in the early morning or late evening when bees are not flying, to hold bee losses to a minimum.

On alfalfa seed crops one or more applications of 20 pounds per acre of a dust containing 10 per cent DDT and 50 per cent sulfur are recommended for lygus bug control. The sulfur is added as a harassing agent. It forces the bugs to come out of protected spots on the plants and into DDT areas where contact with the dust will kill them.

Dusts should be applied when the lygus bugs put in an appearance in heavy numbers, usually about bloom time. Each application will give protection for two or three weeks. Early morning or evening applications will cut bee losses from the dust and either airplane or ground dusters may be used.

Lygus bugs will put in an appearance on lotus seed crops about the time bloom begins, probably late in May. One or more applications of 20 pounds of a dust containing 10 per cent DDT and 50 per cent sulfur are recommended.

Meeting Called

Dust applications should be timed by the individual growers to meet the heavy infestations of the bugs in their fields. To help growers time their dust applications, County Agent W. B. Tucker has called a meeting of alfalfa, ladino clover, and lotus seed growers for Wednesday, May 17, at 8:30 p.m. (DST), at the courthouse auditorium, at which L. G. Gentner will show the method of checking fields to determine proper timing of dusting operations.

It is impossible for the experiment station and extension staffs to advise individual growers when to dust. Therefore, it is important that seed growers intending to dust be present at this meeting to learn how to determine when dust should be applied. At this meeting H. H. White, in charge of crops re-

KEEP AMERICAN "KNOW HOW"

Medical SUPERVISION OF MEDICAL Service!

Doctors, lawyers, pharmacists, teachers, grocers, farmers and many others have their "trade associations" for the purpose of self-improvement, self-regulation, protection and improvement of public service and welfare. None with political domination, or to be regulated out of existence.

75% of all families interviewed in a recent national survey had a "Family Physician" consulted for all illness. The family physician is the fundamental and dominating feature of rendering medical service.

This Doctor's education or "know how" is highly important to maintaining America's present highest level of health on earth. Hospitals and Pharmacists are part of the Doctor's vital working "equipment" that help to round out competent medical service to the patient.

Experienced, qualified medical men, Pharmacists and hospital executives—all are using every effort to keep politicians from lowering the standards of education and supervision in medical care fields.
