Wake Up America Program Set by Elks Lodge Here

Vic Kengla, exalted ruler of Medford lodge of Elks, announced today that the lodge will sponsor a community-wide "Wake Up America" program as part of a grass roots counter-offensive by the Order of Elks "against the communist scheme to destroy freedom."

Sponsored by the Elks National Service Commission, the crusade is the latest move in a campaign conducted by the Elks for more than 15 years to defeat the communist plan for world conquest. Judge James T. Hallinan, New York, chairman of the commission, informed Exalted Ruler Kengla that the program was timed deliberately to provide a powerful answer to the Marxist May day demonstrations.

Affirm Basic Truths

"Native communists and fellow travelers, who add up to far less than one per cent of the people of this country, are doing their best to undermine the United States on orders from the Kremlin," Kengla said. "Nearly everyone in this tiny group hates the basic truths upon which this country is founded—that each and every human being is a child of God, created in His own image; that he gets his fundamental rights from God, not from the state, and that the chief purpose of the state, as our founders repeatedly affirmed in the Declaration of Independence, is to protect these God-given rights."

"The month of May was selected for the Wake Up America campaign because that is the time when those who seek to destroy freedom and opportunity hold their rallies. We feel that our order, founded upon charity and love of mankind, should meet this challenge, and we are going to meet it. The Elks of Medford along with our million brothers from coast to coast will use this opportunity to reveal the truth where America's enemies spread falsehood, to maintain order where these enemies spread confusion, and to offer love of our fellow men instead of the hate and fear preached by communists," Exalted Ruler Kengla declared.

Asked to join
He said that Emmett T. Anderson, Tacoma, Wash., grand exalted ruler of the Elks, has asked each of the order's 1,540 lodges over the country to join fully in the crusade "to quicken the spirit of American patriotism."
Kengla said that he had appointed a committee headed by Franklin Van Pelt to take charge of the Wake Up America day activities, which will be held simultaneously with the Armed Forces day program on May 20. The entire community is invited to participate in the event in order to make it a resounding demonstration of solidarity for the American way of life, Kengla said.

Professor Acts It Out; Watch Can't Take It At Baylor University

Waco, Tex.—(UPI)—Prof. Andres Sendon of Baylor university believes in plenty of arm waving and other histrionics as part of teaching.

The Spanish professor's enthusiastic gestures long had held the attention of his students. Always they were expecting something to "pop" during one of the animated lectures.

It was no surprise, then, when the Spanish class heard a bang, followed by a metallic zing, during the climax of one of the lectures.

The histrionics had been too much for the professor's self-wind watch.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parr, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bray, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Messenger, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Woodell, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Schopf, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Sage, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Smith, Mrs. Gladys Alberding, Unable to attend because of illness were Seniors Virginia Peters, Everett Zemke and Darrell Hanna and Juniors Lily Welburn and June Hoffman.

Program Outlined to Detect Uterine Cancer in Women

By Paul F. Ellis
United Press Science Editor

New York, May 16—(UPI)—A four-point program to detect uterine cancer in women early enough to be cured completely was outlined today at the international congress on obstetrics and gynecology.

Dr. Herbert F. Traut, professor of obstetrics and gynecology, University of California, listed the points as follows:

1. Education of physicians (the general practitioner) to the concept of periodic examinations at six or 12 months intervals of all women.
2. Education of the lay public as to the necessity of the periodic examinations.
3. The establishment of state-supported laboratories, through taxation, for making diagnosis from smear specimens.
4. Education of the physician at the local level, the general practitioner, as to what constitutes adequate treatment of cancer at its various stages of growth.

Socialized Medicine
Dr. Traut told the congress, which is being attended by experts from the world over, that his plan for state-supported laboratories would be described as "socialized medicine."

"There are some forms of medical services which can be borne by the taxpayer better than others," he said. "We have state medicine in the treatment of mental disease; we have state medicine in the diagnosis and treatment of syphilis; we have state medicine in the treatment of tuberculosis."

"As a matter of fact, we have already committed ourselves as a great people to the proposition of state medical care of diseases of social significance which hazard the nation."

"Is there any disease which comes nearer hazing the women of this nation than cancer?" Provides Expert Help
Dr. Traut said his plan does not mean "free medical care," but offers a way for the general practitioner to get expert help in the diagnosis of cancer where laboratory testing is needed.

As for point 4 in his program, Dr. Traut said that treatment of cancer must eventually rest with the general practitioner, the general medical man, the general surgeon.

"It must be done in the home town and in the countryside adjacent to the place in which the patient lives," he said.

Dr. Traut said that adequate laboratory testing for the diagnosis of cancer if made available to "every citizen of the state without cost to the individual, would be one of the greatest boons imaginable and could only be made available by the state government and by taxation."

ELECTION WIDE OPEN

Floyd, Va. (UPI)—No candidates qualified before the deadline for the June 13 mayoralty and town council election. The incumbents have declined to seek re-election but say they will serve unless there are some write-in votes on the blank ballots.

Tokyo, Japan, May 16—(UPI)—Pfc. Robert E. Burns, 21, of Topeka, Kas., was killed by carbon monoxide fumes from a truck during maneuvers, the army announced today.

Americans set an all-time high for smoking last year—an average of 169 packs or 3,380 cigarettes per person, according to the National Association of Tobacco Distributors.

Nine out of 10 eggs leaving northeastern poultry farms for market are of the two top grades, according to a six-state survey by the Cornell agricultural experiment station.

Americans do not live by bread alone, the American Bakers' association admits, but figures show they spend more than $1,500,000,000 in an average year for that item alone.
