Early Volunteers Honored Here by Medford Firemen

As Medford firemen were getting down to a repeat last night honoring the old time volunteers, the inevitable occurred. The alarm was sounded and a number of the men were called to stand by while power company repairmen took care of a short at 11th and Laurel streets. Otherwise the supper, meeting and entertainment was just about as scheduled.

Old Timers Attend
Old timers on hand for the occasion were Volunteer Chief Gene Amann, Wolf Creek, and Charles Boussum, Tom Flynn, George Eads and John T. Conrad, all of Medford. Mrs. Boussum and Mrs. Flynn were also guests as were Mayor and Mrs. Diamond Flynn. Others attending were fire department regulars and call men and the auxiliary.

The occasion marked the first participation of the women in the oldtimers annual event. Speakers included Amann, Mayor Flynn, Tom Flynn and Acting Fire Chief Leo Weidner. Weidner, whose period as consultant to the city council and fire department concludes at the first of next month, was presented a traveling bag by local firemen.

Toll Bell
At the old timers business meeting the traditional toll bell and tolling of the bell for departed volunteers was conducted. Call men also met and Neil Pratt was added to the group.

Dolores Baize and Dickie Browning performed a dance during the entertainment portion of the evening. Mrs. Boussum gave a dialogue. Square dancing concluded the evening. Ham and turkey for the buffet supper was cooked at the fire hall and auxiliary members provided the rest of the meal.
