

Prospect Hi Wins Babe Ruth Plaque

Prospect, May 25—Prospect high school was presented recently with a plaque by the Babe Ruth National Sportsmanship Foundation. This is one of the few plaques for Oregon schools and is a nationally recognized award.

The plaque was presented by Carl A. Troester, director of the Foundation. The two most outstanding students on the basis of sportsmanship, character, athletics and scholarship will have their names placed on the plaque. Dave Campbell and Gerald Willson of the Senior class have been selected for the honors. In addition to having their names on the plaque the boys will receive individual awards.

The plaque is now on display at the Prospect Store for the benefit of those not connected with the school.

Dead line Sunday Classified is at Noon Saturdays

An article explaining the use and function of west coast cooperative snow surveys published in the current issue of Western Construction News. One of the three coauthors is R. A. "Arch" Work, senior irrigation engineer at the Southern Oregon Experiment station.

The article gives a description of the work, in which many state, federal, municipal, commercial and private agencies cooperate, and it tells the uses to which the survey is put—forecasting flood possibilities, drought conditions, irrigation water supplies, and run-off patterns.

Others collaborating in preparation of the article are Paul A. Ewing, senior irrigation economist of the soil conservation service, Berkeley, Cal., and Clyde E. Houston, irrigation engineer of the soil conservation service in Reno, Nev.

Magazine Article Tells Function of Snow Survey Work

Forecasters given in the article largely follow the pattern of predictions made by the local office of the cooperative survey and published previously in The Mail Tribune, although they cover a larger territory.

The story points out the flood potential in the northwestern states this year, indicates that drought conditions are spreading through the southwest, shows indications of liberal water supplies in the mountain states, and forecasts a run-off pattern similar to 1949's.

Fewer Idle Workers Here Than Last Year

There were an estimated 1,400 idle workers in Jackson county May 1, about 200 less than at the same date last year, according to the state unemployment compensation commission.

Although lumber and wood products generally were employing 14,000 more Oregonians in mid-April than at the height of the cold weather about three months before, re-hiring slowed during the past few weeks, the commission said. Non-durable goods also were slow in re-hiring workers throughout the state, but June harvests are expected to bring delayed gains in food processing employment.

Active Club Hosts to Troop 5 at Dinner

The Medford Active club will play host to Boy scout Troop 5 at a dinner to be held at the Oak Grove school building at 7 p.m. today, it was announced this morning.

Funds derived from the dinner will be used to help offset expenses of scouts who will be travelling to the Boy scout national jamboree in Valley Forge, Pa., this July. Herb Sampert, scoutmaster of the troop, will also be one of the scoutmasters on the special train taking Rogue valley scouts to the jamboree.

Harold Stieler, German exchange student at Southern Oregon college, Ashland, will speak at the dinner.

Mercy Flights Plane Completes Fourth Mission

"Mission completed without incident" can again be written in the log-book of "Rogue's Wings o' Mercy," the air ambulance operated for Jackson county people by Mercy Flights Inc.

The two-engine plane yesterday took two injured young people to their home in Paso Robles, Cal., at the request of their doctor, and returned here early this morning. Pilot for the trip was Zane Griffin.

The patients were Marie and Gerald Liphams, injured in a recent automobile accident. Their physician made the request for the air service at 9:15 a.m. yesterday and the plane left at 12:30 p.m., after some delay caused by efforts to make the patients more comfortable. Each suffered a broken pelvis. Finally an airplane tire inner tube was pressed into service as a cushion, making the trip easier for the young people. They were accompanied by their mother, Mrs. Lillie Liphams, Paso Robles.

1,000-Mile Round Trip
The flight, more than 1,000 miles round trip, included a stop at Sacramento on the way south, arrival at Paso Robles at 4:30 p.m., where an ambulance met the plane, arrangements having been made by Southwest Airways, and the return starting at 5:30 p.m. Griffin stopped overnight at Red Bluff, because of extreme turbulence over the Sierran mountains.

George Milligan, chairman of the non-profit corporation, pointed out that all pilots donate their services and time, and on at least two occasions have been forced to spend the night away from home before returning from mercy missions.

This was the fourth trip made by the plane since it was placed in service last January, Milligan said. The Liphams were the fourth and fifth patients receiving emergency ambulance transportation.

All population statistics released from regional offices are preliminary until the final reports are issued from Washington, D. C., next fall.
