'Ham' Operator Gets Rescue For Hurt Man

Grants Pass, May 27—The Grants Pass Courier has reported another case where amateur radio operators came to the rescue in an emergency and may have saved a man's life.

Martin Holmes, 68, a miner in the Kerby district, was injured Wednesday morning when a rock crushed his leg. A neighbor, George McClanahan, heard him call for help, and took him to his cabin. McClanahan, a "ham" operator, called a Salem operator, who telephoned Mrs. McClanahan in Grants Pass, who in turn phoned the forest service, which immediately sent out a rescue party.

In the meantime, McClanahan was given radioed directions on how to splint and care for Holmes injured leg.
