Ghost Church Set For Restoration

The ghost town of Golden, located near Wolf creek in the mountainous country 22 miles north of Grants Pass, will experience a resurgence of life tomorrow when a large group of residents of that area move in with hammers and nails to help restore the historic old Golden church.

The church has stood empty in the abandoned old mining town for many years. But it has long been the dream of John Porter of Wolf Creek and Mel Davis to save it from decay. Porter owns the Golden property and Davis' father, a preacher-miner from Australia, was one of the early pastors of the church. They decided that with the help of friends and neighbors the steeped old building could be restored and put back into service. The Rev. N. H. Carman of the Glendale, Merion and Hugo churches and his combined congregations will assist in the project.

So, tomorrow the long-silent town of Golden—once a busy mining center—will echo with ringing saws and hammers as an old-fashioned "shingling bee" brings another historical shrine of southern Oregon back to life.

1st Christian Plans Children's Day Rites

Children's day will be observed Sunday, June 4, in all departments of the Bible school of the First Christian church.

A special program to be presented by children of the lower departments is being prepared under the general chairmanship of Mrs. Arnold Bohnert, in support of the various brotherhood agencies throughout the world. At the 11 a.m. service the minister, the Rev. Holly Roy Jarvis, will honor the special day observance by speaking on the theme, "The Heritage of Our Children."

The choir, under the direction of E. Ronald Rice, with Mrs. Ernest Conrad at the organ, will present an appropriate anthem. The regular evening service of the congregation will be dismissed in favor of the high school baccalaureate service at the senior high school.

KYJC To Air Service From Nazarene Church

The worship service of the Church of the Nazarene will be broadcast over radio station KYJC at 11 a.m. The pastor will speak on the theme, "An Evaluation of Life," and high school graduates will receive special recognition.

The evening services will be dismissed for the high school baccalaureate service.

Babson Discusses Fixing of Prices

By Roger W. Babson
Babson Park, Mass., June 2—(Special to Mail Tribune)—Can anyone tell me why, in the name of common sense, our government bought and stored away 114 million pounds of butter last year at a cost to you and me of better than $78 million?

The cry has gone up from farmers across the land that people eating habits are changing. They say folks aren't eating as much butter as they used to. Obviously not—they can't afford to! But why not? Because the economic medicine men in Washington have pushed the price so high that substitutes have to be bought. The family physician may tell you that vitamin-reinforced margarine is just as nutritious as butter, but abolish your phony controls on price and you will see which spread the people really prefer! They prefer good creamy butter.

Last year, for example, we spread only 1 1/2 billion pounds of butter as against 2 1/4 billion pounds pre-war. But still the farmers cry in their churning over the sharp increases in margarine sales—from 300 million pounds pre-war to nearly 1,000 million pounds last year. Yet they let the department of agriculture continue turning their churns! If the boys in the agriculture department keep on, they will churn butter producers right out of business. And I say this as a boy brought up on a dairy farm who has both milked cows and delivered milk.

Not Only Butter, But Whole System Rancid

But this isn't the end of the sad tale. People cannot afford to pay current high prices for butter. Hence, consumption falls off. The government buys mountains of the stuff to maintain high prices. So the dairy farmers go merrily on churning out more and more spread for no one to buy, but for Uncle Sam to store away, and for you and me to pay for the privilege of not using.

What's the government going to do with all the golden butter bricks? Who knows? Recently they have been trying to give them to relief agencies, schools and so forth. But takers are few because they haven't the kind of money it takes to pay transportation charges, especially when a good substitute answers the purpose. Anyway, who wants rancid butter? To my way of thinking, not only the butter, but the whole phony system is rancid.

West Coast Airlines Traffic Up in May

West Coast airlines had a considerable increase in both passengers and express during May compared with the same month last year, it was reported today by Chuck Whillock, station manager here.

Last month 632 northbound passengers departed via West Coast from Medford, and 600 arrived from the north, Whillock said. These figures were 132 and 100 larger respectively than for May, 1949.

Last month 2,033 pounds of freight arrived and 1,317 departed, both increases over the same month last year.

the law of supply and demand before it will boomerang. Newton's law of action and reaction also applies here as aptly today as 200 years ago. Ostich economics (the head in the sand variety) is due for a terribly rude awakening some day.

Yet, our president is urging other spending programs like the butter program that could run up a debt of nearly $15 billion in three years. Projects requiring huge outlays of public money—when business is at near peak performance—will lead some day to economic disaster. If we must prime the pump in this fashion in good times, what can the soothsayers possibly have in store for us in hard times? The awful consequences of this kind of reckless spending ought to be taught by all high school teachers to their classes. The harsh object lessons of Great Britain offer excellent source material.

Unemployment is currently and steadily rising. Even Leon Keyserling suggests we may have as many as 12 million jobless by 1954. I wonder if Mr. Keyserling sees the connection between a mountain of butter and the mounting unemployed. As long as business is stifled by an increasing tax burden to hold up prices there just isn't venture capital sufficient to create and expand business.

Irrigation Display Set for 3 Counties

Loren Woody's Riverbanks farm, on the Applegate river west of Grants Pass, will get a thorough drenching next Friday when a three-county sprinkling and irrigation demonstration is held there beginning at 10 a.m.

Farmers and others interested in irrigation problems from Douglas, Josephine and Jackson counties will be invited to view the numerous types of irrigation systems that will be on display at Riverbanks farm during the day. The California Oregon Power company will install the various types of hook-ups that may be used for different types of pumps and a Copco representative will be on hand to explain electric irrigation systems. Gas operated systems will also be shown.

County Agent W. B. Tucker said all dealers of irrigation systems will be welcome to show their equipment at the Woody ranch during the day.

Eugene Man Receives Five Years in Prison

Eugene, Ore., June 2.—(AP)—Gerald L. Hempel, 24, of Glenwood, Ore., was sentenced in circuit court yesterday to five years in the state penitentiary for contributing to the delinquency of a minor which eventually resulted in the death of a nine-year-old girl.

Hempel entered a guilty plea to giving liquor and furnishing a car to 15-year-old Fessile Hendricks of Springfield, Ore.

Hendricks currently is charged with negligent homicide. The car he drove ran over and fatally injured Joan Paul as she played in her front yard with her 11-year-old sister, Jeanette. The sister was injured.

Judge G. F. Skipworth denied an application for parole from Hempel on grounds that if Hempel had not given the youth "a bottle of beer" the girl still would be alive.
