

Busy Week Will Include Weddings and Graduation

June will be a busy month for the valley, for June is not only the month of many weddings but it is the month of high school and college graduations and the start of vacation time for many. Weddings seem to be concentrated in the middle of the month, with several set for next week-end.

This week brings both baccalaureate and graduation for Medford senior high school, with the former set for tonight at 8 p. m. in the auditorium and graduation to be Thursday in the stadium. Teachers and school officials have their fingers crossed about the latter, for a downpour at the wrong time would put away all the carefully laid plans for an outdoor ceremony. Past years have seen the auditorium jam-packed at graduation time, with each graduate allowed only a few tickets for relatives and friends because of the lack of space.

Here from New York city for a few days is Mrs. Clarence A. Meeker, who lived in Medford for several years before being named editor of The Methodist Woman, national magazine. Mrs. Meeker reports her work both interesting and enjoyable. It is not exactly new to her, however, since she edited a smaller Methodist magazine before unification of the Methodist church 10 years ago, and was on the editorial board which put out the first few issues of Methodist Woman immediately after unification went into effect.

Mrs. Meeker recalled yesterday that one of the first issues of the magazine, which now has a circulation of over 200,000, carried an artist's conception of the typical Methodist woman. This creature didn't happen to please many subscribers and Mrs. Meeker hit upon the idea of picking a typical Methodist woman for her 10th anniversary issue, selecting her from pictures submitted from all over the nation. Mrs. Meeker is having a jury of men pick the winner. The anniversary issue will be out in September.

The editor reports that the church is having good success in its effort to interest young people in missionary work in

Jean Hart's Diary

Sunday, June 4

Horses, Horses, Horses, Crazy Over Horses, horses, horses and the town becomes a huge corral for Rodeo week. Parades, cowboys, steer riding and best of all, our own Posse Drill Team. The horses wear their best saddles, silver hung bridles and most becoming saddle blankets—and what will you wear?

We have blue jeans and plaid shirts which are really the most practical. Especially if you are riding in the parade! We also have Rodeo scarfs to tie around your throat, tucked under your collar, hang from your hip pocket—you can even wear them as a scarf!

We have denim pedal pushers for added ventilation and to show off your boots. And loads of cotton sun dresses with disguising jackets for a cooler audience. And gay short summer coats for an evening in the bleachers.

Even if you don't know a latigo from a withers when the band starts playing . . . if you live in the Rogue River Valley you will want to back your team at the Fairgrounds!

Ki-yipppe-yi—Git along little doggies—you will find that Jean Hart is your riders new home!

Officer and Family Visitors in Medford

Warrant Officer Donald O. Mentzer and family arrived in Medford last week to spend about three weeks here visiting with Mrs. Mentzer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Crocker, 3232 Lone Pine road. The Mentzers have recently returned to the states after living the past three years in Panama.

Mrs. Mentzer is the former Miss Louise Mentzer of Medford, and has many friends here. The couple's four children are Freddie, Michael, Sonia and Terri.

From here the visitors will go to Spokane where Mr. Mentzer's parents live. They will leave from there for Fort Belvoir, Va., where the warrant officer has been assigned.

Dear Family:

Father's Day June 18!

What to give Father on his day—is always a $64 question—Sometimes its fun to make him happy with an oversize ashtray—the kind Mother never buys, or copper beer mugs that really hold a beer!

Sometimes its fun to make him squirm with a ceramic picture that deals efficiently with father's sporting instincts. These are—$3.95 special at $1.98.

Sometimes its best to make him laugh—with a gay item a bit on the raucous side. Ask to see the new mugs and mail pockets—but promise not to be shocked.

After all, its a man's day!
