From Camp White

By L. J. "Tick" Malarkey
"Where is that guy Malarkey? I want to meet him."
The ladies of the VFW auxiliary were coming through the barracks of Company I, and from there we sat there was no escape. "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned," and "what kind of a dog-house are we in now?" we thought.

Mary DeBerry, bless her, did the honors. And we were face to face with Mary Schulz. "I read that story you wrote about Freda Lawrence," she said. "Believe me, she rates all of those good things you said about her. Freda is tops."

Mary's husband, Dick, is here on the station—works in the garage. He was with a North Dakota outfit during the Kaiser wars. Mary hails from Michigan.

A grey-haired lady, after quenching her thirst at the drinking fountain, turned to her companion and said: "This Medford water is the thing that keeps me from making out home in southern California. There is none like it anywhere else."

True words.
They are pouring concrete out here this morning, completing the emergency runways to be used by wheel chair patients in the event of fire or catastrophe.

Construction was done by the station carpenter crew and the concrete pouring by a firm from Medford.

Carrie M. Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anderson, will be in the graduation class of the University of Colorado June 10. Anderson is executive officer of Camp White.

Carrie majored in journalism at Colorado and had business advertising as her specialty. In addition to other scholastic honors she won the $100 award given each year by the Denver Women's Press association to the outstanding student of journalism and advertising. The lady also found time to be president of the Mortar board.

Following commencement Miss Anderson will come to Medford to visit a month with her folks.

He was Capt. Ernest J. Theriault, 32nd division, 125th infantry, when the war ended Nov. 11, 1918. This was the outfit which wore the red arrow. Today "Ernie" is out on the plains of White and is a member clerk in the front office.

"Want to hear some music?" he said Sunday night.

A medley of tunes rolled from that piano—not one but a dozen. And tone deaf as we are, we recognized talent far beyond the ordinary. Friend "Ernie" once studied at the Detroit Conservatory of Music. And years back when the immortal Madame Schumann-Heink was touring the country he went along with her for six weeks as her accompanist.

Tiring of music and thinking that the real future lay ahead, the young man fought professionally as a lightweight. A couple of main events in Madison Square garden convinced him that boxing, unless you were tops, meant only a scrambled head and walking on your heels.

He quit the ring. Michigan raised Ernest J. Theriault, one time captain of infantry. He plans to make Oregon his home when his health is restored.
