

Newby Proposes Stiffer Penalties For Drivers Convicted as Drunks

Salem, Ore., June 23—(U.P.)—Motorists convicted of drunken driving will face stiffer penalties if Secretary of State Earl T. Newby's recommendations to the 1951 legislature are incorporated as motor vehicle code amendments, he said today.

A proposed code amendment would provide for 30 days suspension for drunk driving, 90 days on the second conviction, and revocation of the license for the third conviction.

Driver May Reapply

The law now provides for revocation of the license after conviction, but the driver involved may reapply for his license if his application is accompanied by a recommendation from the convicting magistrate.

Newby says this is the weak point in the code because pressure often is brought to bear to give convicted drivers another chance.

Newby pointed out that an average of 300 drivers a month lost their licenses during the fiscal year ending last June, but he added that the revocations figure is growing rather than diminishing.

All-Time Revocation

As Newby put it: "I believe that the amendment will remove the habitual violators from the road."

Another amendment prepared by the secretary of state's office would call for all-time revocation of drivers' licenses from persons convicted of a felony committed with the aid of an automobile. Newby said this would make it difficult for criminals to use cars without being picked up by police officers.
