Elizabethan Skit Publicizes 10th Annual Festival

Ashland, June 28—One of a series of booster programs to advertise the 10th annual Shakespearean festival was presented last night at the Lions' club installation here. The program followed a potluck dinner given in the gymnasium of Briscoe grade school.

The program was a humorous Elizabethan skit complete with court jesters and musicians. "Good Queen Bees" was portrayed by Miss Clara Daniels, Medford, who will play "Cleopatra" in this year's festival and who is director of women's programs for station KWIN in Ashland. Jesters were Miss Norma Jeanne Snell, Medford, who will play the part of Celia in "As You Like It," and Rudi Vest, Ashland, who will also appear in this year's festival.

Musicians were Ben Trowbridge, Medford, and Lloyd Halvorsen and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Bailey, Ashland.

Tonight the group will travel to Yreka to stage the skit for the Yreka Kiwanis club.

Miss Addis Lane of Salem, who will play Rosalind in "As You Like It" will substitute for Miss Daniels at tonight's performance.

The first in this series was presented at the recent Lions club convention held in Medford, and others are being planned.

The skits are written and directed by Mrs. Jack Beardsley of Ashland.

New Members Speak To Rotary Club Here

Three new members of the Medford Rotary club, Walter Carson, Walter Garner and Oliver Morton, gave brief addresses as a feature of the club's luncheon program Tuesday at the Jackson hotel. Walter Young was program chairman and introduced the three speakers.

In observance of United Nations week, Harlan Bosworth, chairman of the club's local international service committee, discussed that organization's role in the current critical Korean situation. Bosworth read the preamble of the U. N. charter and outlined the articles covering the military sanctions invoked against the north Koreans. The crisis in Asia today is the most critical test of the U. N., the organization which offers the best means of winning eventual world peace, the speaker told Rotarians.

Wednesday REALTY VIEWS
The telephone jingled and the familiar voice of Mark said, "We are being transferred to another state. We'd like you to tell us how much our place is worth and sell it for us."

Mark lived in one of our nicest residential sections. All the owners took pride in their neighborhood. The houses and yards showed much care.

While Mark's house was not too large, it was neat, trim, and newly painted. The yard was a gardener's delight—a real place of beauty.

We inspected it thoroughly and noted all the appealing features. A fair price was established. Frankly, we allowed a plus "value" for fine care and overall attractiveness. We knew from experience that buyers and even loan companies would do the same.

Within three days we had sold the property to an appreciative couple who were fond of gardening.

We can help you to sell your home too. Our service includes arriving at a fair price, advertising the selling features, contacting people we know are looking for a place like yours, arranging for a loan if necessary, and taking care of all the details.
