SOC Registration For Spring Term Will Begin Monday

Ashland—Registration for spring quarter at Southern Oregon college will begin Monday, according to Mabel W. Winston, registrar. The term will continue through June 6, although seniors will graduate June 1.

Mrs. Winston said enrollment is expected to remain close to the winter quarter total of 612 students which was a 5 per cent increase over fall term figures. Students are currently enjoying a spring recess between terms and classes will be reconvened Tuesday. Registration will continue through Monday, April 7.

Eight evening classes are scheduled in spring term, Mrs. Winston reported. Valley residents are encouraged to enroll in the courses, either for college credit or for the enjoyment of the work.

Night classes will include contemporary novel, basic ceramics, photography for beginners and vocal lessons in voice on Monday; voice and diction on Tuesday; contemporary problems and social dance Wednesday; and folk dance on Thursday. Complete details may be obtained from the registrar's office.

Review of winter term registration revealed that 191 students listed Ashland as their home and 105 were from Medford. The Jackson county total was 347 students. Fifty-six students were from Josephine county, 46 from Klamath county, 44 from Douglas and 28 from Coos.

The daring maneuver here Tuesday resulted in no injuries or property damage.

Logging Men To Argue Two Major Questions

Spokane—(U.P.)—Arguments on two issues affecting the logging industry will be presented at the three-day intermountain logging conference beginning here Monday.

The questions are "is the lumbering industry contributing more than its fair share toward the development of the national forests by sustained production of timber?" and "are highway use restrictions justified?"

About 1,000 highway officials, regional foresters and logging representatives from Washington, Montana, Oregon, and Idaho have indicated they will take part in the discussions.
