

State Finance Head Orders Crackdown on Publications

Salem—(U.P.)—State Finance Director Harry Dorman has started a crackdown on publications issued by state departments—to the size, to the contents, and to the grade of paper. Dorman said too many of the publications by various state departments were being printed on expensive bond paper and carrying material he does not believe is to the interest of the general public.

Governor Agrees

To this, Gov. Douglas McKay agreed. He said he would stand back of his finance director. He said he thought several publications either could be eliminated entirely or at least reduced in size and in the grade of paper used.

The governor observed: "Publications designed to give the people information do not have to be printed on the most expensive bond paper on the market."

Forestry Department

Dorman said he already has directed the State Department of Forestry to reduce the size of its monthly publication and plans a conference with State Agriculture department officials about the size, contents and quality of its publication. The March issue of the "Agriculture bulletin" was out Friday, and Dorman said: "The current issue of the agriculture magazine is devoted almost entirely to pictures and articles regarding members of the department staff, from the director down to the secretaries. 'This may be nice for the employees but I have serious doubts if the running of these articles is of any general interest to the agriculture people of the state.'"

Alcoholic Problems Subject of Course To Be Held Here

"Alcohol in Human Affairs," a college level course offering three term hours of graduate or undergraduate credit, will be offered here for 11 sessions, starting Wednesday, March 26, according to the city schools office.

Class hours will be from 7 to 9:45 p. m. in Room 23 of Medford senior high school. The course will be instructed by W. K. Ferrier of the general extension division of the state system of higher education. An $18 fee will be charged for the course.

For Social Workers

According to the extension division, the purpose of the course is to acquaint teachers, social workers, counselors, school administrators and qualified laymen with the latest scientific information related to problems of beverage alcohol.

Lecture and discussion topics will include the effects of alcohol on the human body and psychological and sociological problems involved in the use of alcohol.

Also scheduled to start next week is a class in audio-visual aids in education, to be instructed by Lawrence Butler of Southern Oregon college. The first of 11 class sessions will be held from 7 to 9:45 p. m. Tuesday, March 25, in Room 23 of Medford senior high school. The class fee is $18.

Swarms of Grosbeaks Sojourning in Valley

Thousands of western evening grosbeaks, little yellow, black and white birds, have descended on the Rogue valley in their annual trek to Canada from California. The Jackson county agent's office reports many queries as to what the birds are, where they came from and why they are staying so long.

The office reports that the birds travel through the valley annually, eating primarily tree seeds from maples and other species. It has been suggested that the birds may have been delayed on their flight north this year by unusually light snow and winter conditions in northern California.

Camp Established In Arctic Ocean Near North Pole

Anchorage, Alaska—(U.P.)—A civilian scientist and two U. S. Air Force officers were camped Saturday on a floating ice island 60 miles from the North Pole following the first successful aircraft landing on the huge Arctic ocean ice mass.

Maj. Gen. William D. Old, commanding general of the Alaskan Air Command, acted as co-pilot of the Jato and ski-wheel equipped C-47 cargo plane that landed on the ice island after an 18-hour flight from a secret Greenland air base.

Semi-Permanent Station

The general said the Air Force hopes to make a "semi-permanent" weather station on the island. Plans call for supplying the camp by air and increasing the present crew to about 10 or 12 scientists and communications experts, he said.

Old denied that any inter-service rivalry prompted the Air Force landing on the ice island at this time. Members of the Navy's "Operation Ski Jump II" at Point Barrow plan to make a landing on one of the islands before April 15.

"We made our plans last fall, and just carried them out," the general said. The Air Force announced plans earlier last year to make a landing on the island last summer, but poor weather conditions forestalled the attempt.

Valley Lumbermen Will Attend Meeting

Two Rogue valley lumbermen, directors of the West Coast Lumbermen's association, will take part in the 41st annual stockholder's meeting of the lumber association in Portland next week, it was announced Saturday.

They are B. L. Nutting, manager of the Medford corporation, Medford, and Richard Reynen, of the Fir Milling and Planing company, Ashland.

Hillman Leudemann, president, said the stockholders will work to solve problems of vital importance to this region. Approximately 250 lumbermen, including the 31-man board of directors, are expected to attend the meeting, to be in the Multnomah hotel March 27.

Topics to be considered include mortgage money and credits for home building, freight car supply, extent of national lumber promotion by West coast mills for 1952, problems of government affecting the lumber industry, and a review of co-operative dealer-aid programs.

Police Continuing Parking Law Drive

The city police department Saturday issued another warning concerning its campaign for prompt payment of fines for auto parking violations.

Recently the department reported that warrants would be issued when parking tickets were not paid within 24 hours. If warrants are necessary, a warrant serving charge of $5 is being added to the fines.

In one case Saturday, in which a warrant was issued because of three unpaid parking tickets, the fine totaled $8.

He said an increase announced by the Navy will be from five to nine cents an hour and will affect all naval job activities in Seattle, Tacoma, Bremerton and Everett.

Analyst Predicts President To Run

Cleveland—(U.P.)—Lyle G. Wilson, political analyst and chief of the United Press Washington bureau, said Friday night that President Truman will be a candidate to succeed himself and that he will be renominated.

"I believe Mr. Truman will run," Wilson said, "because none of the alternatives add up to anything about which he could be really enthusiastic." Wilson stated his beliefs on the forthcoming political conventions at a public forum sponsored by the Cleveland Press.

He discounted the idea that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's nomination might cause the President to step aside in the belief Mr. Truman's foreign policy would be in friendly hands if the general were elected.

Wilson pointed out that "General Ike is also on record against a great deal of Mr. Truman's foreign policy."

Stream Pollution Halt Ordered in Roseburg

Portland—(U.P.)—The Oregon State Sanitary Authority has ordered Roseburg Homes, Inc., to submit plans for the abatement of pollution in its Cloverdale Park addition at Roseburg within 60 days or face action by the attorney general.

The action was taken at a meeting of the sanitary authority in Portland.

The corporation is operating a temporary treatment plant to dispose of waste at the housing development but the authority charges that the system is not adequate to maintain sanitary conditions. A battle to determine control of the corporation is now pending before the Oregon Supreme Court. It prevents the authority from addressing the order directly to the officers.

The corporation was represented at the meeting by Portland Attorney William E. Murray.

Valley Couple Sees New Farm

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cornutt, Old Stage road near Gold Hill, returned last week from Moses Lake, Wash., where they saw for the first time the farm on which they will make their new home.

Cornutt was selected from a group of World War II veterans to buy the farm by the Northwestern Railway company which previously owned the property.

There are no improvements on the 181 acre tract of land, but sometime during the year it will be under irrigation, they said.

The couple plans to leave here in July and will live at Moses Lake until they have made improvements to the property. Cornutt is a native of Central Point and since returning from service has done part time farming and worked at the Medford corporation. Mrs. Cornutt has been working at Hubbard Brothers in the housewares department. The Cornutts' new property

Soviet Union Producing More Engineers Than US

Los Angeles—(U.P.)—The Soviet Union is producing three engineers to every one produced in the United States, national secretary William H. Eisenman of the American Society of Metals said Saturday.

"And this unbalance puts the United States in grave danger of losing a possible war," the Cleveland engineering expert warned.

Eisenman is visiting chapters throughout the country in an effort to launch a campaign to encourage high school students to take up engineering.

adjoins a homestead which will be granted a veteran May 29 from 48 veterans, one from each state, who are nominated by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. That homestead will be valued at approximately $50,000 with a home, improvements and crops, according to the Cornutts.

Education Funds Aim Of Church Collection

Overcrowded dormitories and classrooms in 14 Lutheran colleges and seminaries provide ample reason for the $10 million expansion effort now being taken by the Lutheran church, Missouri Synod, according to Pastor Kenneth Korby of St. Peter's Lutheran church, 1020 East Main street.

The church is a member of this synod. The congregation is participating in this collection, which is beginning today. Ray Harder is chairman of the local committee, which also includes Walt Kingman, Mrs. Hugh Huntley, and Ronald Wolff.

Two thirds of the proposed collection will be spent in the expansion of the educational facilities for training pastors, missionaries, and teachers, in these 14 schools.
