Pennsylvania Boxers Take Lead In National AAU Mitt Tourney

Boston—(U.P.)—Pennsylvania's tough-punching leather pushers set the pace Tuesday as the roughest national AAU boxing championships in 64 years swing into the second day of a three-day grind for 10 coveted titles. Of 10 boxers from the Keystone state surviving a trial round that saw 19 knockouts, seven were from the "City of Brotherly Love," Philadelphia. Among them was Pvt. Jack King who scored a two-round kazo in the beak-bashing light heavyweight division which accounted for seven knockouts in the nine opening trials. Close behind was New York with nine "simon-pure" sluggers still in the running, including seven well-trained youngsters from New York City's metropolitan AAU. There were eight Massachusetts lads remaining in the competition, three from a Camp Edwards Army group and five from the New England team—one of 20 associations participating. Ohio was running fourth with seven. A triple tie found Hawaii, California and Michigan

Group Will Investigate NCAA Sports

Chicago—(U.P.)—A four-man investigating team laid plans Tuesday to back the National Collegiate Athletic association's code governing college sports.

Named to the newly constituted group were the NCAA's Executive Director Walter Byers and three members of the membership committee: John Hurlbut of Stanford, King Hendricks of Utah State and Tom J. Hamilton of Pittsburgh.

The team will serve as a fact-finding unit under the direction of the membership committee, turning over its findings to the committee for final decision. It will answer complaints and handle violations of the NCAA's code.

Punishment will be meted out by the membership committee which was authorized at the January convention to investigate any violations.

The organization's earlier attempt at enforcing its code collapsed at Dallas two years ago when the convention tossed out, by vote, the so-called "sanity code."

Suspended Werle Seeks Solution With Bill Meyer

Pittsburgh—(U.P.)—Bill Werle, Pirate southpaw pitcher under indefinite suspension for breaking training, said Tuesday he thought Manager Bill Meyer was "right in cracking down on those who didn't toe the line" but expressed hope that he could "iron out" his troubles with the club.

Werle returned to Pittsburgh from Beaumont, Tex., where he was handed the suspension Thursday and fined $500 to prepare his "case for Meyer and general manager Branch Rickey." "It was my first infraction of the training rules and I feel that I'm being made an example for the youngsters on the team," the soft spoken Werle said.

Werle was the first player to fall under the ax in Meyer's "get tough" policy.

CROWD PLEASER—Former Texas coed Patricia McCormick, now a full-fledged bullfighter, uses all her skill to turn the bull away from the barrier during a performance at Nuevo Laredo, Mexico. Patricia made two clean kills with only one sword thrust needed for each. The critical Mexican audience was so pleased they awarded her the ears and tails of the two bulls.

Bomar, Day Go After ABC Bowling Honors

Milwaukee—(U.P.)—A full house is expected Tuesday night to watch Ned Day and Buddy Bomar of the Jockey Cooper team of Chicago take a shot at American Bowling Congress honors.

Ferranti Ballantine of Scranton, Pa., paced Monday night's 80 teams with a 2,884 set. But the score wasn't high enough to upset any of the top 10 standings in the team division. Crescent Florals, Grand Rapids, Mich., sandwiched the high game of the tourney, 1,092, between scores of 855 and 905 for a 2,852.

Tops Team's Hurlers

Charlotte, N. C.—(U.P.)—Rookie southpaw Bill Miller may be the Yankees' "surprise package" of 1952.

The youngster, who had a 16-10 record at Syracuse last year, has the best record on the Yank mound staff—only two runs and 15 hits allowed in 25 innings. Monday, he gave up only one hit in his seven-inning tour as the Yanks whipped Columbus of the Sally league, 8 to 0.

TO SEEK REVENGE

Crocodile Replaces Bank Vault Guards

Darwin, Australia—(U.P.)—One bank in this far northern frontier city scorns huge vaults and armed guards.

It has an innovation in watchdogs to guard the public's money—a crocodile.

The croc, Nicodemus by name, is tied up each night outside the bank safe.

Nicodemus has become a staff crops.

pet and has been trained to bark at the approach of strangers. Razor sharp teeth and lightning-like movements should be enough to deter any thief, the bank thinks.

California has approximately eight million acres of land under cultivation devoted to food crops.
