

Theft Suspect and 'Victim' Will Wed; Charges Dropped

Detroit—(U.P.)—The bright sunshine streamed through the window and a warm breeze, scented with spring, wafted through the county prosecutor's office.

The old walls, drab and gray when Sam Abraham and Rose Calleja brought their fight to the prosecutor suddenly turned to pink and lavender.

The prosecutor didn't see the change. The clerk across the room didn't see it. But Sam and Rose saw it.

They were in love. It was an up-hill battle for the couple who suddenly realized that it was spring.

Mrs. Calleja, a 42-year-old widow, advertised for roomers to occupy the five spare bedrooms in her big house.

Abraham, 54, rented one of the rooms. A few days later he asked his new landlady to loan him some money to open a dry cleaning establishment.

"I hardly knew the man, but I loaned him $510," Mrs. Calleja told police.

Honesty Suspected

Then, she said, she began to suspect Abraham's honesty.

Sure enough, she said, an investigation of police records showed a Sam Abraham had been arrested previously for larceny by conversion.

Mrs. Calleja had her roomer hauled off to the prosecutor's office yesterday, where it was revealed there were two Sam Abrahams. This Sam wasn't the one the police wanted at all.

Color Begins To Change

That's when the walls began to change color for Sam and Rose. They slyly held hands while they talked to Assistant Prosecutor Nathan Kaufman.

Then they held a private conversation in the corner before turning back to Kaufman's desk.

Mrs. Calleja reached for a pen and across the face of the complaint she wrote: "I do not wish to prosecute because the defendant promises to marry me."

They left the office hand-in-hand.

Columbia Basin Snow Cover Greatest

Portland—(U.P.)—Snow cover

in mountains along southern, southeastern and southwestern tributaries of the Columbia river is the greatest in the history of the Federal-State Snow Survey, R. A. Work, the U. S. Soil Conservation Service's survey supervisor, said Wednesday.

The April 1 snow survey report showed a high water content in many parts of the above average snow cover throughout the drainage. Work said this assures excellent supplies of water for irrigation and hydro-electric power for the area in 1952.

Road Crew Assists At Accident Scene

Members of a road crew at work on Highway 227 were the first to report the details of Monday's fatal accident to authorities, it was reported today. Melvin Eugene Thompson, Central Point, was killed when his lumber truck left the road.

Occupational Cancer Target of Specialist

Chicago—(U.P.)—A specialist, writing in the American Medical Association Journal, called on industry, labor and medicine to work together in preventing occupational cancer.

Dr. John G. Downing, Boston dermatologist, said occupational cancer is rare but it does exist.

"The record of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission shows what can be accomplished if the dangerous hazards of industry are frankly reviewed and accepted methods are installed for proper prevention of illness among the employees," Downing said.

He said such cancer is liable to develop among workers exposed to soot, pitch, tar and shale oil. Arsenic, tar, mineral oil and radio-active chemicals also can produce cancer in various parts of the body, he said.
