

“Light in Darkness”

Though centuries have passed since the first Easter morning, it continues to bring joy to the hearts of people. Easter is our reminder of the tenacity and triumph of life. Earth awakens from winter slumber—from that which looked like death but was not. Beside the grave of a loved one, the flowers are blooming in all their glory.

Turn not your faces to the past, that we may worship only at His grave, but above and within that we may worship the Christ that lives. Because He lives, we shall live also. This is the guarantee of Easter.
