What's New at BELL'S

"Magnolia" ... a brand new, grand new pattern in famous Stangl dinnerware. It's as lush and colorful and exciting as ... well, as a magnolia blossom. The colors are a spring symphony of soft greens and deep rose, accented with crisp touches of white. Each piece is hand carved and hand painted, then glazed to make its beauty permanent. A 16-piece starter set is $14.95.

Looking into our crystal bowl, we can easily foretell its future. Filled with salad, it will be the center of attraction at any buffet supper. It has a matching serving tray, fork and spoon, and all 4 pieces are just $4.25. A sparkling gift idea.

Ashland Station To Give Messiah As Easter Feature

Ashland—Presentation of the entire oratorio "Messiah," by Handel, will be a special Easter day feature on radio station KWIN, Ashland. The recorded program (7-9 p. m.) will feature the Huddersfield Choral society directed by Sir Thomas Beech- am.

The program is another ex- ample of practical application of classroom work by a South- ern Oregon college student. Staf- ford Thomas, Melbourne, Aus- tralia sophomore, has planned the presentation and will offer explanatory commentary.

The student has been present- ing a weekly series of recorded classical music which he calls "Symphony Hall." Each Sunday from 8 to 9 p. m. he selects a repertoire of well known num- bers. Relying on his background of musical knowledge supplemented by current research, the youthful commentator prepares and delivers descriptions of each work.

Delighted with the opportu- nity to present "Messiah," Thom- as admits that his first love is the weekly program. He says it gives him an opportunity to cre- ate an artistic concert employ- ing the finest conductors and orchestras in the world. Listen- ers testify that his commentary delivered with clipped British accent reflects his intense en- thusiasm.

Round-Table Planned For Sorority Chapter; Ward Gift Prepared

Members of Alpha Rho chap- ter, Beta Sigma Phi, will partic- ipate in a round-table discus- sion during a meeting Tuesday, April 15, in the home of Mrs. Ed Bunnell, 111 Portland ave- nue. Mrs. R. F. Mundy will be hostess and Mrs. Russell Bud- reau will conduct the discussion. The meeting is set for 8 p. m.

Chapter members Thursday prepared a basket filled with decorated Easter eggs and cook- ies for a Veterans' Domiciliary hospital ward. The members prepared the eggs during the meeting which was in the home of Mrs. Bunnell. Luncheon was served by Mrs. Harvey Bell, who also did the decorating in keep- ing with the Easter season.

Mrs. Bunnell, Mrs. Ray Clark and Mrs. Bell delivered the bas- ket to the domiciliary.
