

Chamber, Council Committeemen See KF-Medford Flights

Members of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce and Medford city council airport committees this morning went on record in favor of inauguration of temporary scheduled air service between Medford and Klamath Falls.

The question of air service between the two cities, which last arose about a year ago, will be discussed by representatives of Medford and Klamath Falls at a joint meeting with the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce there next week.

It was pointed out by various persons, including City Councilman Dwight Houghton, at this morning's meeting, that a request to the Civil Aeronautics Administration should be for service on a temporary basis.

Those attending the meeting also went on record favoring one direct service a day by United Air Lines to San Francisco and Portland.

In other business brought before the meeting, a recommendation that an air show be staged this year, with funds to go toward construction of a civic auditorium, was referred to the chamber promotions committee for further study.

Several committee chairmen were appointed at the meeting by Chairman Frank Van Dyke. They included Don Root, agriculture; Oliver Morton, private flying and safety regulations; Nat Bender, operations; Stanley Parrish, airport promotions; Earl Lawson, legislation, and Tom Coleman, commercial aviation.

First Christian Church Gains 165 New Members

As a result of an intensive program of visitation evangelism, 165 people joined First Christian church at Easter services last Sunday, the Rev. Shely H. Anglemeyer, pastor reported.

Fifty-three joined by transfer of membership and 112 were baptized. The minister reported that 194 in all had indicated desire to join and that some of them will be coming within the next few weeks.

Along with the increase in membership, the minister announced expansion of facilities of the church. He said that adjoining property valued at $15,000 has been purchased.

The home on the property will be used temporarily for additional Bible school space. It is planned to construct a church addition later. Bible school attendance was 591 last Sunday.

Driskill Directs
Bayne E. Driskill, director of visitation evangelism for the state of Texas, came in January to set up the program at the local church and returned to direct the intensive program April 6.

In addition to those who joined the church Sunday, 32 persons previously placed membership, making a total of 197 since the program began three months ago.

Talk Scheduled Today At Bible Auditorium
"The Law That Died with Christ on the Cross" will be the subject of Evangelist Harold E. Metcalf today at 7:30 p.m. in the Bible auditorium, 910 South Central avenue.

Using visual aids, he will trace the dispensations of God's dealings with mankind.

On Wednesday Metcalf quoted several prominent medical men in statements of the harmful effects of tobacco upon the human race, especially women. Each one in the audience was given a mimeographed physician's prescription to aid in giving up the habit. On Sunday night Metcalf will discuss the prospects of Heaven of a person who has never been baptized.

4-H'ers Win High Honors at SF Show

Two Jackson county 4-H'ers recently took high honors at the 1952 Grand National Junior Livestock exposition at the Cow palace in San Francisco, according to Rufus Cate Jr., county agent in charge of 4-H work.

Miss Marilyn Bohnert, 18, Central Point, exhibited an Angus and a Hereford steer, and both were rated "choice." She also was named first alternate for a $1,000 college scholarship awarded by the Standard Oil company, according to Cate. He added that Miss Bohnert "has been a champion exhibitor at Oregon fairs and livestock shows for several years, and has competed for four years at the Grand National."

Her sister, Miss Doreen Bohnert, 16, also showed a Hereford steer that was rated "choice," Cate added.

Oregon has opened two new state parks to the public this year at Hilgard junction near LaGrande and at Red Bridge on Starkey road west of Hilgard junction.

Marine Confesses To Bayonet Death Of School Teacher

Seattle—(UP)—A Marine Pfc admitted Friday he killed 55-year-old Martin Zellmer with a bayonet Monday because, he said, the Longview school teacher made improper advances after offering a ride near Vancouver, Wash.

The serviceman was identified by the Navy as 22-year-old Edwin E. Hanley of Seattle, who was absent over leave from the Marine base at Camp Pendleton, Oceanside, Calif.

Hanley was apprehended by shore patrolmen here Thursday night after an unidentified tipster said the man was wanted for being AWOL as well as "other things."

He was questioned concerning the Zellmer case by Shore Patrolman Donald Anderson. When asked if he were the slayer, Hanley at first replied "you read the newspapers, don't you?" But as he was being led to a cell by other marines, he said "tell him he's right."

He later recounted the slaying and signed a statement admitting the killing, officers said.

Navy officers turned Hanley over to King county Detective Capt. Adam Lyskoski, who took the marine to his mother's home. Hanley took a bayonet from beneath the sink and told Lyskoski that it was the death weapon.
