

Student Visitation Week-End To Show SOC Departments

Ashland—High school seniors who visit Southern Oregon college this week-end will have an opportunity to observe practical demonstrations by each of the major instructional departments, according to Dr. John A. Schulz, chairman of the visitation program.

Staff members and undergraduates have prepared a comprehensive series of activities to be presented Saturday which will give visiting students a clear picture of the Southern Oregon curriculum, Dr. Schulz said. Participating in the program will be departments of education, secretarial science, social science, English, art, music, science and physical education.

More than 500 southern Oregon high school students have been invited to attend the annual affair. A social hour Friday evening will open festivities, to be followed on Saturday by a general assembly at 9 a.m., departmental demonstrations, a tea at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Elmo N. Stevenson, minstrel show, dance and Sunday church services and outdoor band concert.

The business department, under the direction of Alvin V. Miller and Veva E. Wilson, will demonstrate modern office machines from 9 a.m. to 12 noon Saturday. Assisting with the program is the Future Business Leaders of America club and the Medford chapter of National Office Management association, to be represented by Don Cruikshank, Winston Carl and Charles Hill. Businessmen of the community will be welcomed at the exhibition, Professor Miller said.

At 11 a.m. the English department will demonstrate preparation of a radio program in the recently completed college studios. The oral interpretation class of Angus L. Bowmer will participate assisted by faculty members Dr. Arthur Kreisman, Leon C. Mulling and Charleen Krings.

An elaborate program has also been planned at 10 a.m. by the education department headed by Dr. John D. McAulay. Lillian Nicholson, first grade teacher at the Lincoln Laboratory school in Ashland, will conduct a story dramatization in the library of children's literature assisted by pupils of her class. Dr. McAulay said Miss Nicholson is considered one of the outstanding primary teachers of Oregon, adding that her demonstration should be enlightening to prospective teachers.

Also participating in the education department's portion of the program will be Bertha Smith, Dr. Bill A. Sampson, Mrs. Betty Lou Dunlop and Ken Mohnney.

Close Vote Allows Youngsters To Dance

Willmar, Minn.—U.P.—High school kids were free to fox trot at school dances Wednesday after parents' groups won a bitter election fight over the issue.

Willmar's clergy had strongly attacked the proposal to allow high school dances and a record number of voters went to the polls Tuesday to approve such dances for the first time. The measure carried 1,392 to 1,042.

SOC Student Named State FTO Leader

Ashland—Southern Oregon college was honored this week when Kenneth L. Mohnney, Salem, a SOC student, was elected president of the newly organized Future Teachers of Oregon organization. State elections were held at Lewis and Clark college.

Mohnney has served as president of the SOC chapter of Future Teachers of America for the past two years. He has been active in several other campus groups, including the men's honorary fraternity, speech fraternity, Boy Scout fraternity, the college newspaper, dramatics and vocal musical groups. He is a junior in teacher education.

Mohnney will go to Detroit in July representing the Oregon FTO at the National Education association convention. FTO is affiliated with the Oregon Education association.
