

Total Budget for Welfare Lower Than 1951-52; County Portion Up

The 1952-53 estimated annual budget for Jackson County's Aid and Welfare department is $132,500 less than that for the current fiscal year, according to Mrs. Blanche Lyman, department administrator.

The total figure for all funds is $1,119,600 she said, as compared with $1,252,105 for the current fiscal year. The county's share on a percentage basis has raised, however, Mrs. Lyman noted, from $199,851 for the present year, to $204,718 for the proposed budget.

Federal Funds Less
The administrator explained the change as resulting from the fact that federal participation will be less, thus making a larger contribution necessary from state and local governments. An example is the federal reduction of old age assistance participation from 50 per cent in the current year to 45 per cent for the next fiscal year. This has raised the state percentage participation 3.5 per cent and the county 1.5 per cent.

The estimated budget for the next fiscal year beginning June 30 includes the following for Jackson county: $58,000 for general assistance; $24,000, foster home; $773,000, old age assistance; $166,500, aid to dependent children; $8,500, aid to blind; and $89,600, aid to permanently and totally disabled. Mrs. Lyman described the latter category as the "newest and fastest-growing" of the funds. This fund takes in the cases not included in some of the others, she added.

Besides the budget, the welfare commission was concerned last Friday with the matter of the new aid to dependent children order from Miss Loa Howard, state administrator at Portland. In a letter dated March 28, Miss Howard notified the county that "effective July 1, 1952, children 14 through 17 years, with the exception of physically and mentally handicapped children or those in emergent need, will be ineligible for public assistance." This provision will be in

Student Recovering Following Exposure

Kelso —(UPI)—John Crawford, 24-year-old University of Washington student from Sunnyside, Wash., was recovering at a Longview hospital Monday from mild exposure and frost bite after spending two nights and one day on Mt. St. Helens.

Crawford told state police here that he was caught in a blizzard as he attempted to scale the mountain alone. He left the Harry Truman lodge area about 7 p.m. Friday and was found on a north slope road by an unidentified searcher Sunday.

A search for Crawford had just been organized when he was found. The hunt immediately was called off.

Governor Warren's Representative Visits

James F. Lowery, a personal representative of California's Gov. Earl Warren, was a Medford visitor Monday. He revealed that Governor Warren plans to visit Medford sometime during his pre-primary election campaign trip through Oregon, probably after May 6.

Warren will conduct an active campaign in Oregon for the state's Republican presidential preference. Lowery reported, and Medford will be one of the cities he will visit.

The governor is one of several leading presidential candidates seeking the Republican nomination.

Kansas City, Mo.—(UPI)—Mrs. Barbara Schwartz Roberts, 60, the wife of Roy A. Roberts, president of the Kansas City Star, died Monday at their home in Mission, Kan.

effect until September 1, Mrs. Lyman pointed out.

A similar order was in effect for three months in 1951, the local administrator pointed out, but has been reduced to only two months this year.

The order explains its purpose by stating that "it is anticipated that employment will be sufficient to maintain their (children's) living standards during the summer months."

"In most cases lack of employment or of employment opportunities will not in itself constitute a situation of emergent need as contemplated in the state exception," the letter pointed out.

Law Makes Difficulty

Mrs. Lyman added that the order makes for some difficulty when a temporary permit for each case under 16 must be obtained from the state labor commissioner because of the child labor law. The child must first obtain a job, then the employer must apply for the permit, she pointed out.

Last year, in an effort to work out this situation, the Juvenile Court Advisory committee was concerned with the problem and had a committee under the chairmanship of Gilbert Tomy helping the youths get jobs. Mrs. Lyman said that the committee's "wonderful work" would be continued again this summer.

The administrator pointed out that "if the order is the consensus of the will of the community, it is up to the area to help provide opportunities for children in this age group."

Foster Care Up

In the department's statistical report for March of this year, an increase is shown in the foster homes fund with 44 children taken care of as compared with only 26 in March of 1951. Old age assistance declined for the month with 1,057 cases as opposed to 1,075 in 1951.

Rodney Keating, Ashland, co-chairman of the commission presided at last Friday's meeting in the absence of A. S. V. Carpenter who was ill. Others present were Mrs. W. H. Young, Eagle Point; Dr. D. Kirkland West, Medford; ex-officio members L. G. Morthland and Robert Lytle, county commissioners; and Mrs. Lyman.
