

239 Boys Take Part In Camp-O-Ree Here

A total of 239 boys took part in the Big Pine district Boy Scout Camp-O-Ree held April 26 and 27 at Hill Top ranch near Griffin creek, local scouting officials reported today. In addition, Senior Scouts from four Explorer posts assisted with the program.

Highlight of the Saturday evening campfire was a preview of Indian dances to be presented by members of the Scout honor camping society, "Order of the Arrow," at the Scout circus May 17.

A non-denominational church service was conducted in the camp Sunday by the Rev. Shelby Anglemeyer of the First Christian church of Medford.

During the Camp-O-Ree which was directed by scouting officials, the quality of each unit's camping and participation was judged by the neighborhood commissioners of the Big Pine district, assisted by Explorer Scouts and their advisors.

Awards Presented
During the final assembly, which was attended by many parents, awards were made to various patrols.

Those receiving blue ribbon awards, denoting that they had exceeded Boy Scout standards of patrol camping, included the Flying Eagle and Mohawk patrols of Troop 1; the Cougar, Mt. Pitt and Pioneer patrols of Troop 3; the Wolf patrol of Troop 5; the Pine Tree patrol of Troop 8; the Beaver and Eagle patrols of Troop 9; the Dan Beard patrol of Troop 10; the Mohawk and Bear patrols of Troop 16; the Wolf patrol of Troop 18, and the Apache patrol of Troop 44.

Red ribbon awards, for patrols meeting Boy Scout standards of patrol camping, went to the Bat patrol of Troop 2; the Flaming Arrow patrol of Troop 5; the Rattle snake patrol of Troop 7; the Stag and Ranger patrols of Troop 8; the Bear, Wolf and Flaming Arrow patrols of Troop 9; the Panther patrol of Troop 10; the Wolf patrol of Troop 16, and the Flaming Arrow patrol of Troop 18.

Participation Awards

Patrols receiving participation ribbons included the Silver Fox patrol of Troop 3; the Coyote patrol of Troop 6; the Iroquois patrol of Troop 9; the Cobra and Flaming Arrow patrols of Troop 10; the Panther and Flying Eagle patrols of Troop 15; the Apache patrol of Troop 16; the Black Panther patrol of Troop 18; the Panther and Termite patrols of Troop 40; the Golden Oak patrol of Troop 41, and the Eagle and Panther patrols of Troop 46.

Conservation Workshop Planned at Rogue River

Ashland—Plans for an all-day conservation workshop to be held Tuesday at Rogue River were discussed yesterday by a three-man committee. The program is being sponsored by the Sams Valley-Beagle Soil Conservation district.

Arrangements have been prepared by Warren W. Center, superintendent of Rogue River schools; Clement H. Aull, Medford, of the U.S. Soil Conservation service, and Dr. H. S. Fowler, assistant professor of science at Southern Oregon college.

Advantages of soil conservation will be demonstrated in field trips and new practices described by the program directors.

"Love you?" you cannot ask of me. So freely as I wish to give. The woman's great necessity. To love as long as the shali live. —Phoebe Cary.

Have been in the public libraries of every major city in this country. Next to the New York Public Library, I think that the Cleveland Public Library is the best. I have been a library fan since I was a lad. My sister said not long ago: "Edgar was a funny kid. On Friday afternoons he would walk two miles to spend the afternoon at the Bay Ridge Library. On Saturday he would go out to the racetrack and try to ruin the 10 cent bookies who hung around outside the fence."

Remarkable Mare
Currently in progress at the Santa Anita track is a Grand Circuit harness horse meeting. This track is located on the site of "Lucky" Baldwin's Santa Anita Rancho. It is therefore interesting to note that Baldwin's son-in-law, Budd Doble, was one of the greatest harness horse drivers of all time. Not only that, Doble regularly drove the greatest harness horse of all time, none other than "Goldsmith Maid." This remarkable animal tied the world's record when nineteen years of age. She raced until twenty and won the last race she ran in Toledo. She lived to be twenty-eight and is buried at the Fashion Stud Farm, Trenton, N.J.

Collectors Items
Possessors of old coins often have an exaggerated idea of their values as collectors items. For example you would think the first United States coins having the motto "In God We Trust" on them would be extremely valuable. Especially when they were minted for a short period. The two-cent pieces, minted from 1864 to 1873, are the coins discussed. They are only worth about twenty-five cents each. A valuable coin, however, is the so-called "St. Gaudens" United States twenty-dollar gold piece from which the "In God We Trust" was omitted.

Old Is Ann?" still seems to be quite a baffler. Here is another old-timer that your grandpappy may have struggled with: "A bottle and a cork cost eleven cents. The bottle costs ten cents more than the cork. How much do the bottle and cork cost separately?"

Actual VFW Essay Contest Winners Announced Today

Carla McKeen, Medford high school student, is the winner of the annual Veterans of Foreign Wars essay contest. It was announced today. Miss McKeen is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin O. McKeen, 25 Willamette avenue.

As winner of the contest, Miss McKeen will receive a 25 first prize and a medal. Her essay will also be entered in a statewide contest. Last year's local winner, Martha Spatz, Medford high school, placed third in state competition and Marilyn Malone, St. Mary's high school, 1950 winner, was second in the state.

Second, Third Prizes
Joan Ferreard, St. Mary's high school, 432 Fairmont street, was awarded second place in this year's contest and will receive a $15 award. Third place went to Robene Starcher, Medford high school, 1570 South Stage road. She will receive a $10 prize.

Two honorable mentions were given this year for the first time. They went to Pat Hampson, Medford high school, 745 Dakota avenue, and to Carole Robertson, Medford high school, 327 West Eighth street.

Judges of the essay contest were Miss Jeanette Thatcher, chairman, Fred Burnett and Miss Hazel Swayne. Among members of the city schools staff who took an active part in the contest were Elliott Becken, assistant superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Don Darnielle.

Eisenhower Leaders Will Hear Sen. Lodge

William McAllister, chairman of the Medford Eisenhower for President committee, and Mrs. Stephen Nye, vice-chairman of the group, are planning to attend a statewide meeting of Eisenhower groups May 5 in Portland, they reported today.

Featured speaker at the Portland meeting will be U. S. Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., (Mass.) national campaign manager for Eisenhower for president.

Senator Lodge will tell workers about the campaign being conducted for the general throughout the United States, according to W. L. Phillips, state chairman. He will also discuss his conversations with General Eisenhower in the latter's headquarters in Paris recently.

The meeting will be the first of its kind in Oregon and plans for an intensive campaign through the period remaining before the May 16 primaries will be outlined.

Fresh Milk Delivery Curtailed in Detroit

Duluth, Minn. —(U.P.)—All but a trickle of fresh milk was dried up by the simultaneous collapse of negotiations here with striking dairy workers Tuesday along with a plan for the emergency distribution of milk to children and invalids.

Only a handful of small dairies remained to supply the needs of 250,000 residents of Duluth and Superior, Wis., after daylong negotiations Monday ended in a stalemate on both scores.

The strike was called Saturday over a contract dispute by the dairy workers seeking a five-day week and a one year contract.

Koys to Be Guests At Awarding of Cup

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Koyl, route 1, box 46, Ashland, have been invited to be the guests of the University of Oregon's junior class at the school's 62nd annual Junior weekend, they reported today. The event is scheduled for May 9, 10 and 11. Koyl will present the Koyl cup Saturday during the junior prom. The cup, donated by Koyl, annually is awarded to the outstanding junior man at the university. It is being presented this year for the 38th time.

STICKERS SUGGESTED
New York —(U.P.)—Traffic experts suggested Wednesday that motorists arrested for reckless driving on the nation's highways should be forced to display red stickers on their windshields and rear windows, or surrender their drivers' licenses for one year.
