

Lack of Fireworks In Commies' May Day Rites Features News

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign Analyst

The week's balance sheet between the good and bad news in the hot and cold wars:

THE GOOD

1. Communist May Day celebrations went off on schedule, but, except for Tokyo, with little fireworks. Demonstrations in such potential trouble spots as Paris and Rome were orderly. East Berlin Communists could muster only some 10,000 youths to challenge West Berlin police. Some 300,000 demonstrators clashed with police in Tokyo, resulting in death and injury, but probably more out of exuberance over national independence than widespread Red sympathies.

Ridgeway Choice Welcomed

2. North Atlantic Treaty nations welcomed the appointment of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway to succeed Gen. Dwight Eisenhower as supreme commander in Europe. The combination of battle-wise Ridgeway with Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, an organizational genius, as his chief of staff, was regarded as just about the strongest team the United States could wield in the effort to build up Western Europe's defense against Communism.

3. The Yugoslav Communist party—at odds with the Cominform said the Yugoslav army is being strengthened to resist "the aggressive pressure of Russia and her satellites. Premier Marshal Tito said that, if attacked, Yugoslavia would increase its army to 2,000,000 men. He said Yugoslavia would not join the Atlantic Pact but would be on the side of peaceful nations.

THE BAD

1. Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan imported 250 police reinforcements from Capetown as the Union of South Africa Parliament continued its stormy debate over legislation which would take away from the courts their right to rule on constitutionality of laws. Sentiment over Malan's fight to ram his "Jim Crow" policies into law despite the courts was at fever pitch.

Insurance Savings Reach $15 Million

Salem — (U.P.) — Oregon employers are saving themselves some 15 million dollars by getting low rates on unemployment insurance, the State Unemployment Compensation commission said Saturday.

With 42.4 per cent of the eligible firms getting the lowest tax rate of .3 per cent the average is 1.16 per cent—much lower than ever before, the commission noted. And 10,162 employers contributing to the state's unemployment insurance program this year will save nearly 15 million dollars.

Based on last year's pay rolls, unemployment taxes will run a little more than 11 million in 1952, lowest with one possible exception since 1941. Last year's average tax rate of 1.352 per cent yielded $12,750,000.

but had not yet really boiled over into violence. However, it could at any time.

2. Western Europe was having its annual case of jitters. Soviet ground troops were on maneuvers in East Germany and the Soviet Air Force was holding exercises along the route of the neutral air corridors out of Berlin to West Germany. Contributing to the state of nerves was the fact that two Red MIG jets riddled an Air France passenger plane en route from Berlin to Frankfurt, wounding three persons. The Reds claimed the plane had strayed from the corridor.

Conference Demands Increase

3. There were increasing demands for some sort of a four-power conference over a peace treaty for a unified Germany. The demands came not only from the Germans but also from such quarters as the British Labor party. The demands probably will not delay initialing of the agreement bringing West Germany into the family of West European nations, but might delay indefinitely its formal approval by the Parliaments involved.

Judge Issues Injunction On Recall of Commission

Hood River — (U.P.) — Circuit Judge Malcolm Wilkinson has ordered an injunction against a proposed recall election for Cascade Locks port commissioners.

The court said Friday the recall petitions did not establish legal grounds for such a recall.

The commissioners had proposed that Cascade Locks purchase the "Bridge of the Gods" over the Columbia river. The structure presently is owned by the Wauna Toll Bridge company. Recall petitions had charged commissioners Ray Mallicott, G. M. Heggard and L. L. Amoth with inefficiency.

Hight Real Estate Expansion Planned

A program of modernization and expansion was announced this week-end by T. J. Hight, who operates a real estate agency under his name. Hight has named Fred G. Swartz as supervisor of the program.

Swartz, formerly with the Stamatz Publishing company, has also had wide experience in business analysis, market research and public relations. In addition, Hight said, the agency's staff will be increased by about 50 per cent within the next six months.

Under the modernization plan, a "preview" service of listed homes will be inaugurated, according to Hight, so that prospective purchasers may get an

Perfect HOMES Preview

A New Real Estate Service for the "Buyers" and "Sellers" of Rogue River Valley Properties

Where Good "Buys" and "Buyers" Meet—For Each a Perfect Home

THE HOME BUYER can now save many wasted hours of lost time and energy, heretofore spent inspecting homes that did not fit their physical, social, or financial needs. Now, in one comfortable visit to the Perfect Homes Previews display on the north side of the Thomas J. Hight Realty office — at any time day or night — you can inspect the many selected homes offered for sale, and conveniently choose, for an on-site inspection, those that meet your requirements.

THE HOME SELLER also saves time, inconvenience and the disappointment of repeatedly showing his home to people, who, for one reason or another, cannot be considered as logical purchasers. Deep in the heart of every home are the key points that determine the classification of buyers whose interest can be stimulated, and whose needs will be met.

44 REASONS WHY

You should list your home for sale exclusively with Thomas J. Hight, Realtor

HOW PERFECT HOMES ARE SELECTED

Not stick or stone, nor brick alone—have gone to make this house a home. Not by the builder's careful rule—not by the workman's keenest tool—but by the art of loving care—a home was proudly fashioned there. The joy of living, peace and fun—has made this home a lovely one.

To be sure that the best interests of both the buyer and seller are protected, we are careful to select homes representing, and representative of, every section and price range to be found in the Medford trading area.

WE ALSO HAVE FOR SALE OR LEASE

Many fine industrial sites, timber lands, investment and commercial properties, farms, ranches and dairies that do not appear in the Perfect Homes Previews. Undoubtedly we have, or can find, the real estate that you require.

FREE PARKING FACILITIES

Among the many other excellent features of the Perfect Homes Preview service is the free parking facilities at the display. You are cordially invited to inspect, at your convenience, the 42 homes offered for sale. Come any time, enjoy yourself.

WHY AN EXCLUSIVE LISTING IS REQUIRED

It's not the contract but the service behind the contract that gets results. Buyers know that "exclusive listing" means "opportunity" for a sound investment.

ALL PREVIEW HOMES HAVE QUALIFIED

1. The price quoted is CERTIFIED to be that which a well-informed BUYER would be justified in paying, and a well-informed SELLER would be justified in accepting.
2. Property is available for an on-site inspection.
3. The condition, financial status and legal ownership have been thoroughly checked.
4. The property is exclusively for sale by
