

Angels Hope For Return Of Connors

San Francisco — (U.P.) — Kevin (Chuck) Connors, an interesting character with a list of varied accomplishments, crossed his fingers Monday while awaiting the word which could put him back into the Los Angeles lineup.

He was to expose his injured shoulder to a group of medical experts.

Minus Connors, Los Angeles split with Seattle Sunday, winning the first game, 8-7 in 12 innings, on Les Peden's homer, and dropping the second, 7-6, when Seattle scored three times in the seventh. The Suds took the series, 5-2.

Portland Beaten
Oakland, with Allen Gettel and Hal Gregg, two stylish right-handers pitching, two-timed Portland, 5-3 and 2-0, for a 8-1 series victory. San Diego clipped the Seals in 16, 4-3, but lost to San Francisco in the second game, 7-4. The Pads won the week's work, 5-2.

First baseman Connors apparently is the fork to which the Angels' success is tuned. With the big, long-legged lefthander in the lineup, Los Angeles threatened to make a joke of the Pacific Coast league race. Three weeks ago he slipped and injured his left shoulder.

Then Los Angeles went into a semi-tallspin.
In a twin-night bill, poor Sacramento fielding got Hollywood a 4-2 win in the short opener, but the Solons roared back with vengeance to defeat star ace Harry Fisher, 6-0.

Promoter Hopes To Close Deal For 'Big Match'
New York — (U.P.) — Promoter Jim Norris hoped to close the "big match" between champions Joey Maxim and Sugar Ray Robinson Monday, deadline for the drawn-out, off-again, on-again negotiations.

"I'm still optimistic," said Norris as he awaited final word from Robinson regarding the proposed 15-round at Yankee stadium, June 23.
Reluctant
Middleweight champion Robinson has been reluctant to accept the fight although his 160-pound title would not be at stake. Light heavy-weight ruler Maxim of Cleveland would be risking his 175-pound crown.

Slender Ray has demanded the lion's share of the loot—37½ per cent of the net receipts to 22½ for Maxim.
Moreover, Robinson has asked that Norris arrange clearance with the various boxing commissions so that he will not have to give up his middleweight crown in case he wins the light-heavy diadem from Maxim. Robinson claims he is too small to campaign as a 175-pounder.

Washington Teams Win

By United Press
Washington and Washington State each boasted of easy weekend wins Monday as the Northern division track and field season headed into the last lap.

Washington State displayed both power and depth to swarm over Oregon State 94½-36½, while Washington swept to an overwhelming 88½ to 42½ victory over Idaho in Saturday's meets.

Jack Jensen Hits Hard in Solon Debut

Washington, D. C. — (U.P.) — It looks like Manager Bucky Harris of the Washington Senators has acquired the Major league's fastest young outfielder in the two week-end deals with the Yankees and White Sox.
Off their first-day performance with the Senators, Harris is tickled with Jackie Jensen and Archie Wilson obtained from the Yankees and Jim Busby from the White Sox.

Speedy Array
Harris has a right to challenge anyone to produce a speedier outfield array than those three added to veteran Gil Coan, who long has been regarded one of the American league's fastest fliers.

Wilson, who was the most valuable player in the International league last season, collected five hits, including a double and a triple, and Jensen four as the Senators trounced the St. Louis Browns Sunday in a double-header, 2-1 and 15-7, to climb into third place in the American league race.

Busby, the league's runnerup to Orestes Minoso of the White Sox is base stealing last year with 26, played only the second game and made two hits, driving in a pair of runs.
Jensen and Wilson came to the Senators Saturday along with pitcher Fran (Spec) Shea and minor league infielder Jerry Snyder in a deal that sent outfielder Irv Noren and infielder Tommy Upton to the Yankees. Upton immediately was sent to the Yankees' Kansas City farm club.

Busby and Mel Holderlein came to the Senators a few hours later from the White Sox in exchange for outfielder Sam Mele.

Many Europeans Want Newfoundland Home

St. Johns, Nfld. — (U.P.) — Newfoundland government spokesmen say they are being swamped by requests from would-be European immigrants who want to settle on the booming island.

The requests, coming from Britain, France, Germany, Holland and Belgium, all carry the same plea.
The government wants help from Premier Joseph Smallwood's government to cut the immigration red tape. All have digested the publicity in Europe for Newfoundland's multi-million dollar economic development program. To those from war-ravaged countries, Canada's 10th province represented the land of milk and honey.

Most of the requests, the government said, had to be ignored. Even the ever-increasing number of immigrants who reached Canada every month weren't being encouraged to settle in Newfoundland unless they could work as instructors, helping native residents acquire technical skills. The government pointed out that, despite the fact that new industries sprang up all over the island in 1951 and were scheduled to do so again this year, jobs were at a premium.

Iraq Government Steps Up Battle Against Locusts

Baghdad, Iraq — (U.P.) — The government has stepped up its war today on locusts, a scourge since the times of Nebuchadnezzar in this ancient land of shifting sand.

Wave after wave, they sweep in from oil-rich Kuwait and the vast expanses to the southwest. They came to lay their eggs and eat into the heart of Iraq. They are met by science—20th century poisons and spotters in jeeps. Their eddying flight is charted by watchful experts using walkie-talkies.

The deadly locust began appearing in south Iraq towards the end of February and they since have been coming in ever-increasing clouds.

Campaign Is Vigorous
Now, a vigorous campaign against the scavengers of crops and fertile lands is under way in the remote provinces of Basrah and Muntafi. Crews have been alerted elsewhere, for the plague is expected to spread through Amarah, Kut, Kerbala and Hillah.

"Daytime" operations are an endless chase" an expert said. "A swarm is located, its position given to us and we proceed immediately to deal with it but when we get to the site we find it has already moved off."

So far, 28 killer-units have been sent to southern Iraq and the agriculture director-general, Sayid Darwosh al-Haidari, has ordered another 20 units to be held in reserve.

In each unit are 10 men and a jeep, accompanied by trucks laden with potent insecticides—death to locusts.

The government has enlisted the aid of desert-wise tribesmen to aid in correlating the war being waged by police, as intent and dedicated as if they were fighting a human enemy.

Pests Pin-Pointed
Haidari proudly indicates a gigantic map on his office wall and says "these are the daily results." On the map are countless pins—each showing the last-known location of the locust swarms.

"The present invasion consists mainly of locusts in the yellow, egg-laying stage, he said. "The department's units are dealing with them when they settle on the ground for the night. "The infested areas now are mostly desert territory."
