Agriculture Office Accused of Waste

Washington—(U.P.)—The General Accounting Office accused the Agriculture Department Wednesday of wasting $500,000 to $1,000,000 on "questionable transactions" which enable a big grain storage firm to make "an excessive profit."

The auditing agency submitted a formal report to Congress criticizing the Agriculture Department's Commodity Credit Corp. for its dealings with Cargill Inc., Minneapolis, one of the world's biggest warehouse firms. It said the transactions enabled Cargill to make an extra profit of about 10 cents per bushel on from 4,000,000 to 6,000,000 bushels of wheat in 1949.

When the accident happens after perhaps a dry night or two, optimism and assurance that we must always be we—shall succeed eventually in becoming permanently dry.

Many individuals who normally sleep until 7 a.m. can wake at 3 or 5 a.m. on important occasions, as to catch an early train. A child, too, may become similarly responsible for his behavior in sleep. Adults who have not trained themselves to do it are generally incapable of waking at an unusually early time. The bed-wetting child has to acquire the ability to control behavior in sleep by earnest and persevering self-discipline or training and can usually do so if the adults who are aware of the child's trouble are not too blankly ignorant.

CAN A CHILD OUTGROW ANYTHING?

A mother writes:
"Your advice, meticulously followed, cured my son of bed-wetting when one local doctor, two child specialists and a child psychiatrist assured me he would just have to outgrow it. When I informed them of the success of your simple method, they all acted as if I'd used an Ouija board and just happened to get the right answer."

Dr. Brady

Now let's be reasonable about it. For all I know the local doctor, the two child specialists and the child psychiatrist and their advice or treatment may have brought about the result the correspondent ascribes to my advice. Human nature is involved here. The four real doctors probably charged a fee for advice—mine set the correspondent back a three-cent stamp and self-addressed envelope, which she sent me when she asked for the pamphlet The Habit of Bed-Wetting.

Bed-wetting that persists after the child is three years of age or recurs in a child of any age following some acute illness, as it does in many instances, is not a "weakness," nor does it indicate kidney or bladder trouble. It is simply a habit and intelligent management will correct it in most instances.

It is not intelligent management to dismiss bed-wetting in a child over three years of age as something the child will "out-grow."

Parents or others who punish a child for wetting the bed ought to be punished for cruelty.

Any one who ridicules or shames the bed-wetting child in the presence of another person should be punished too.

Rogue River Sells Old Fire Hall To Only Bidder - $750

Rogue River — The only bid for the old fire hall, $750 by Betty Bamforth, was accepted by the city council at the regular meeting Tuesday evening and plans were begun for a new 36 by 50-foot building which is to have a council room, shop for the maintenance man, a library, and a water service office. Decision on the type of floor, whether concrete or wood, was postponed until next Tuesday when a special meeting will be held to complete the plans and specifications.

Robert H. Worrall of West Evans road was a visitor at the meeting and gave a short talk on city improvements, zoning laws and city planning.

Council Thanked

Fire Chief Gordon Hatch thanked the council for their support and told of the advancement made by the fire department since its reorganization in 1947, and asked if any one knew the whereabouts of either of the old hose carts which were used prior to that time. He stated the firemen would like to have one of the old carts, for display.

In discussing the costs of fire equipment, Hatch stated 2½-inch hose now costs about $2 a foot and life of the hose is five years. He said some of the hose on hand is seven years old and is to be replaced this year.

The council voted to pay $1200 for fire protection for the coming year and to purchase 100 feet of hose, a reducer and nozzle, to be used in washing the streets so it will not be necessary to use equipment from the city fire truck. It was stated the firemen are to move the old fire hall to the new fire hall for use in emergency.
