New Air Ambulance Service Plane Stops at Medford

A new Portland air ambulance service made its inaugural flight to Medford yesterday afternoon to pick up a Central Point woman suffering from polio. It took her to the Good Samaritan hospital in Portland for training under the program of the state department of vocational rehabilitation.

The new service is the Buck Air ambulance, a commercial service operated by the Buck Ambulance firm of Portland. The patient was Mrs. Maxine Doney, 26, who will be under the care of specialists to be trained in how to do housekeeping despite her crippled condition.

Here at 2:15

The twin-engined Cessna ambulance plane was piloted by Ernie Helm, with Gordon Buck as copilot. It arrived at 2:15 and left an hour later.

Officers of Mercy Flights, Inc., the locally-operated non-profit air ambulance service were on hand to welcome the new air service, and to wish its officers well.

The local service operates on a non-competitive basis, and is primarily designed to serve local people in emergencies, and when no commercial service is available. It promised full cooperation with the new service.

Arrangements for the flight were made by the state department.

The annual luncheon preceded the business meeting. Visitors included Mrs. Ray Frisbie of Medford, supervisor of nurses of the county health department; Mrs. Elizabeth McCallard of Medford, county health nurse; and Mrs. Mary Seville of Gold Hill.

Mrs. M. Schoenemann, chairman for the food sale held last month by the unit, reported net proceeds of $42 from the project. Mrs. Melford Hood, clinic chairman, announced that a summer child health clinic would be held June 9 in the basement of the Community Methodist church. Mrs. Kofahl thanked the members for their co-operation and support during her term of office.

Members of the nominating committee included Mrs. Hood, Mrs. Arthur Boye and Mrs. Ethel Mae Kanelier.

Ike Supporters Plan Abbreviated Ballot

Ashland—The Ashland Eisenhower for President committee this week recommended that an "abbreviated sample ballot" be prepared, showing which candidates for delegate to the national GOP convention are for Eisenhower.

Since there are 50 candidates for the 10 delegate-at-large posts, the committee pointed out that there may be considerable confusion as to who is for whom. And they added that seven of the at-large candidates are Taft supporters, and have filed for election by petition, which would mean they would not be bound to vote for the choice of Oregon voters at the convention, if they were elected.

The committee said, "It is felt that the best insurance to prevent these acknowledged Taft supporters from capturing unwitting Ike delegate votes is to prepare a paid advertisement showing the names of candidates for national committee and delegates who are recognized Eisenhower supporters."
