Ashland, Gold Hill Students Win IOOF 'Pilgrimage' to UN

Patricia Gayle Abbott, 16, Ashland, and Harold "Pat" Foley, Gold Hill, both high school juniors, Friday evening were announced as winners of the third Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges' United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth contest in this district. The contest was sponsored in Jackson and Josephine counties by the lodges' Southern Oregon Leaders council. Harold Bibeau, Ashland, was contest chairman.

The announcement was made during a dinner for contestants arranged by Central Point IOOF and Rebekahs in the Crater high school "cafeteria."

Both Active
Miss Abbott's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Abbott, 1101 Paradise lane, Ashland, and "Pat" Foley is a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Foley, Gold Hill. Both students are active in school events.

"Pat" is a major in history and business at Crater high school and is coeditor of the "Crater Comet," school paper; a member of the drama club, Lettermen's club and student council. Last year he represented Gold Hill high school in the UN contest finals.

Being a contest winner is not new to "Pat." As an eighth grader he won first in a John Day Civic Improvement center contest. When a freshman he placed third in an Armed Forces day observance contest, and won a membership and $5 for writing a letter judged best regarding the Jacksonville Museum.

His hobbies include collecting historical items and he has a rare coin collection. He attends the Gold Hill Methodist church.

Another "Pat"

Also known as "Pat," Miss Abbott is a college preparatory major at Ashland senior high school, and is the treasurer of her class. She was 1952 school sports queen and holds the office of chaplain in the Tri-Hi-Y. Miss Abbott is a member of the National Honor society. Her hobbies concern music and she plays the drums in the high school band. She also plays the piano and attends Ashland Baptist church.

Runners up in the contest were Margaret Denman, Medford; Ann Hayden, Grants Pass; Donna Elder, Eagle Point; Claudia Hulton, Phoenix, and Helen Robertson, Prospect. Contest judges were Ashland, Central Point and Grants Pass school officials.

Leave in July

The winners will leave here in July by way of Spokane, Wash., on an educational bus tour. In New York City they will participate in United Nations headquarters tours from July 13 to 18. While in the city they also will make sightseeing trips and visit historic and scenic points on their way to and from the east.

Introductions at the Friday dinner included Mrs. Lona Dameron, Ashland Rebekah and secretary-treasurer of the council, and Francis Brisbane, Jacksonville, council vice-chairman. Both were active in arranging the contest. Bibeau was master of ceremonies at the dinner.

50 County 4-H'ers To Attend Summer School This Year

Jackson county's quota for the annual 4-H club summer school to be held in Corvallis, June 17-27, is 50 4-H club members, according to R. H. Cate, Jr., county 4-H club agent.

The school is for members 12 years of age or older. Cate pointed out, and the total cost will be $29.50. The school costs $24.50, he explained, and transportation is about $5. Scholarships are valued at $20 with the winners paying the balance of $9.50.

Delegates will be selected, the county agent said, from the list of those indicating a desire to attend, by the executive committee of the Jackson County 4-H Leaders' association.

Program Outlined

The local delegation will take the bus to Corvallis chaperoned by two adult local leaders and an extension agent. Cate said the summer school will include class periods in the mornings with such varied subject matter as jelly-making, livestock judging, fishing, farm mechanics and modeling; recreational periods in the afternoons featuring such sports as volleyball, softball, swimming, archery and ping-pong; and the evenings will have programs such as dances, parties, exchange dinners and the like.

All organizations or businesses who are planning to sponsor some local member by a scholarship are asked to notify the county agent's office in the near future.

Top Dairy Herds Of Month Reported

The top five herds and individual producers for the Jackson County Dairy Herd Improvement association have been announced for April.

Herd owners and their production are as follows: W. D. Mongold, 23 cows, 911 pounds milk (average), and 50.6 average pounds butterfat; Dale and Harriet Young, 15 cows, 1,139 average pounds milk, 48.5 pounds butterfat; Claude Ullom, 24 cows, 1,043 pounds milk, 43.9 pounds butterfat; P. K. Nelson, 17 cows, 835 pounds milk, 41.7 pounds butterfat; and Vinson Vaughan, 34 cows, 1,025 pounds milk, 41.6 pounds butterfat.

Individual honors for the top producer went to Ned Cahall's "Opal" who gave 1,953 pounds of milk and 82 pounds of butter for the month.

Damages Complaint Filed in Court Here

Charles E. Rose has filed a complaint against William Barber asking $12,000 general damages and $900 special damages as the result of an auto accident at the intersection of Highway 234 and the Table Rock-Evans Valley road on Sept. 24, 1950, according to county clerks records.

The complaint states that Rose suffered back injuries. It charges the defendant with driving in a negligent manner.

In and Around Table Rock

The rain which began falling here Monday evening was rated by farmers here and in surrounding districts as a million dollar rain.

All growing crops that were beginning to show the effects of dry weather have taken on a bright green color. Small grain crops are shooting up and weeds that were still unsprouted in the ground have come to life and are bursting through the ground.

Frank Myers of the Willow Springs district was a wheat buyer here Thursday. The Myers family lived on what is now the Table Top Ranch when Frank was a small boy.

Mrs. Donald Wheeler gave a birthday party last Monday afternoon for her five year old daughter, Barbara, which was attended by some 13 local youngsters.

Poison from sprays used in valley pear orchards, it is reported, have killed a large number of bees this spring. One man who brings bees in from an adjoining county claims he lost 50 per cent of his colonies.

Herby Tant, the government trapper, stopped here Wednesday on his way home from the Sams Valley hills where he had caught two large bob cats and a coyote.

Mrs. Pierce arrived here last week from San Francisco and is visiting at the home of her son Bert at the Modoc Orchards.

Table Rock honey bees are very much in the news this week. M. H. Goodlin's colonies were given a clean bill of health by the inspector with the statement that they were the cleanest and strongest he had so far inspected in the valley. Some bees have been lost presumably from poison sprays, and skunks have attacked one of the Goodlin hives.

D. D. Randall and wife attended the Bible study meeting here Thursday night. It was the anniversary of Mr. Randall's starting out as a Sunday school missionary 36 years ago.

Mrs. Jack Cleaves, a recent surgery patient in the community hospital, returned to her home here last Tuesday.

Mrs. Ray Wyatt is enjoying a two-weeks vacation visiting with relatives in Portland, while her husband, Ray, who recently retired from a 27 year hitch with the Associated Oil company, kept things running smoothly at the Table Rock Store.

Log Truck Weight Violations Drop

Salem — Log truck overload violations dropped to an all-time low during 1951, the State Highway Commission said last week. The drop was from an all-time high in 1950.

The annual report of the director of permits revealed that from 1946 through 1950 weight violations climbed steadily upward, from 6,934 to 10,853. In 1950, 5.9 per cent of the 193,757 loads weight were overloaded, the commission said.

Between January 1 and August 1, 1951, there were 5,672 violations, or 3.86 per cent of all loads weighed. After August 1, when a new truck weight law went into effect, there were 1,599 violations, 1.88 per cent of the 85,168 loads weighed.

Average penalties imposed also changed, the report showed. In 1950 they averaged $23.95; during the first seven months of 1951 they were $25.95, and in the last five months of the year they averaged $103.75.
