Two Boat Men Get $20,000 Salvage From Ship Rescue

Portland — (U.P.) — Owners of two tow boats and their crews have been awarded $20,000 in salvage claims by U. S. District Judge Gus J. Solomon for rescuing the Liberty Ship Winslow Homer.

The freighter, owned by the United States government and carrying 9,500 tons of grain for India, lost her rudder January 22 at the mouth of the Columbia river.

Came To Aid
The Sea Lion, owned by the Shipowners and Merchants Tow Boat Co. of San Francisco and the tug Quenett, owned by the Rogue River Timber Co., came to the stricken ship's aid.

Solomon Friday awarded $12,000 to the Quenett and her crew and $8,000 to the Sea Lion and her crew. The money was ordered to be divided among the owners of the two vessels, the captains and the crew members. The judge decreed that the Winslow Homer and the owner of her cargo should pay $20,000 in equal shares. The tow boat companies had asked $50,000.

Medford Corporal Back From Korea

Army Cpl. Roy D. Van Ortwick was one of 21 Oregon servicemen to land in San Francisco last week aboard the USNS Gen. William Gordon, according to the United Press. He is on rotation from Korea.

Corporal Van Ortwick, 22, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Van Ortwick, 1369 Poplar avenue. He has been overseas about nine months and in the service since Nov. 21, 1950. He is a Medford senior high school graduate and worked at Medford corporation. The corporal received basic training at Ft. Lewis, Wash. In a telephone call to his parents Friday evening he said he would go from San Francisco to Ft. Lewis, where he will receive his leave. He expects to be in Medford this week.

A PHYSICIAN IS BETTER QUALIFIED For The Office of CORONER

HERE'S WHY.

A physician quickly recognizes true medical facts about certain deaths. Death by murder can be immediately determined, and evidence for prompt steps to apprehend the guilty and later successfully prosecute will not be overlooked or needlessly destroyed. Innocent people will not be subjected to suspicion or prosecution if correct medical advice is at hand; unsuspected hazards to public health will not pass unrecognized. These are some of the reasons that the JACKSON COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY has endorsed Dr. Vogel for the office of Coroner.
