Ladies Vie Thursday In WVSO Meet Here

Women golfers of seven communities will flock to Medford Thursday to vie with Medford women at Rogue Valley Country club.

The event is the Willamette Valley-Southern Oregon Women's Golf association sweepstakes tournament. It will be the first such tournament of the season for the organization.

Women from Coos Bay, Corvallis, Eugene, Bend, Klamath Falls, Roseburg and Grants Pass will come here for the event. Pairings announced yesterday listed 112 entries. Post entries may increase the number.

There will be competition in several classes with some women playing 18 holes and others nine. First participants will tee off at 8 a.m. (standard time) and threesomes will follow seven minute intervals. Players are asked to be at the tee 20 minutes before their starting times.

Officials for the meeting will be Dick House, Ike Staples and Ray Frisbie, who will handle starting and scoring. Mrs. Jack Wood is tourney director.

The club dining room will open at 7 a.m.

North-South Meet Entries Of Tornado Few This Year

Black Tornado track and field men will have to make up in effort what they lack in numerical strength if they are going to pace the South team in the annual Portland-Southern Oregon meet on Saturday evening, May 24, at the Lincoln high oval in Portland.

Medford high trackmen in the past three North-South battles have piled up more points than participants from any other school. They had a plurality so far as entries from one school is concerned.

This year Medford will have fewer boys and berths in the meet than in the past. Last year, for instance, there were 12 Tornado youths with several berths more than that in the annual cinder test. This year Medford will have nine youths with berths at the most if the Tornado is in the relay.

Refusal To Wed Intoxicated Couples Starts Controversy

Canberra, Australia — (U.P.) — The Rector of St. Paul's Anglican Church has warned his parishioners that in future he will refuse to marry couples who arrive at his church "fortified by intoxicating liquor."

The rector, the Rev. R. Border, has touched off a lively controversy with his warning.

In the latest issue of the parish magazine, Dr. Border said most couples came to the marriage ceremony "in a fitting and seemly attitude."

"However," he added, "now and then there come couples who think they need to be fortified."

Border said, "I will have no regard whatsoever to the incoherence of those who attend, or to the cost to which the parties or their parents have been put."

He reported that Roy Bigham has been named secretary-treasurer, taking the place of Bob Iven, who had to give up the post for business reasons.

Dempster said that there is much enthusiasm among league members.

Dog Story Reads Like Fish Story

Jackson, Miss. — (U.P.) — This is a dog story which reads like a fish story, but the family of Johnny Miller, 12-year-old newspaper carrier, vows it's true.

While collecting money due him on his paper route, Johnny lost a $5 bill. After he had returned home in tears, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, accompanied by his nine-year-old brother and the family dog, retraced the route looking for the money.

No luck. They returned home with Johnny still in tears. It didn't help the fuss to hear the dog whining and scratching at the door shortly afterward.

"I went to the door to scold him," Mrs. Miller said, "and he had the $5 in his mouth."

LIKE 'AKING CANDY—Dodgers' fireball second baseman Jackie Robinson steals home with the bases loaded in the fourth inning of Brooklyn-Chicago game at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn. Cubs' catcher John Pramesa took pitch from Willie Ramsdell, but too late to nab the fleet-footed Robinson. Gil Hodges advanced to third, making the play a double steal. Umpire Augie Guglielmo calls play. Dodgers' pitcher Preacher Roe is at bat and followed with a rare single to drive in final score, with Dodgers winning, 7-2.

Famed Guest House Of Revolutionary Leaders Reopened

Washington — (U.P.) — Gunston Hall, home and guest house of many Revolutionary leaders, has been reopened after more than a year's restoration work.

The picturesque Virginia estate was the property of George Mason, author of the Declaration of Rights which became the first 10 amendments to the Constitution.

Built in 1755-58, the brick mansion overlooking the Potomac River was a favorite meeting place for George Washington, Patrick Henry, and other historical figures who led our struggle for independence.

In 1933 the owner, Louis Hertle of Chicago, deeded Gunston Hall to the State of Virginia in permanent custody of the National Society of Colonial Dames. The land and building were to be administered by a board of regents selected from the national society.

Years Take Toll

The years began to take their toll of the red-brick building and its surrounding landscape. Shortly after Hertle's death in 1949, restoration of the plantation began.

The funds for repairing the historic site, some $230,000, were accumulated from within the membership of the Colonial Dames. The work was placed

Pyrethrum Found Effective on Flies

Berkeley, Calif. — (U.P.) — Scientists here believe they finally may have the number of the housefly.

Studies at the University of California, show the housefly has no serious resistance to pyrethrum. Pyrethrum is not the most efficient of insecticides but it most effective when it hits flies.

F. P. W. Winteringham, visiting English scientist, is experimenting with the use of radioactive synthetic pyrethrum in tracing its killing action in the houseflies.

When the entomologists learn how this material works, they hope to copy the killing action of it and make powerful new insecticides to which houseflies can't build up resistance as they have to other promising chemicals in the past.

"However, there may be some people who cannot manage to get married without a little 'dutch courage,'"

Long Search Reveals Rattle in Automobile

Cleveland, O. — (U.P.) — An automobile dealer who handles big, flashy models, reports the following incident in his repair shop:

Repeated lightnings and various other adjustments failed to detect the difficulty. Finally a door was removed and dismantled and inside was a pop bottle containing a note which read: "You finally found me— you rich so and so!"

under the direction of Fiske Kimball, research consultant of the Philadelphia Museum and his assistant, Erling H. Peterson.

The building was restored as closely as possible to its original construction, structurally and materially.

Gunston Hall's original stately marble mantle, Mason family portraits, and the Bill of Rights table on which Mason wrote his famous document, can now be found amidst their original surroundings. All of the furniture in the mansion is of the 18th century period and some of it actually belonged to George Mason.

Even the Garden has been restored by the Garden club of Virginia under the direction of Alden Hopkings, landscape architect of Williamsburg.

The only modern improvement in the Gunston Hall structure is a new heating plant. All plumbing has been removed and electrical wiring remains only in the brick masonry of the fireplace.

The historic area will be maintained by gate receipts collected from tourists and by appropriations from the State of Virginia.
