

Prompt Attention On Flood Control Measure Expected

Washington—(U.P.)—Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Wednesday he expects the Senate Appropriations committee to give "immediate attention" to a $55,000,000 flood control bill.

The bill, passed by the House Tuesday, provided emergency funds to repair dams, levees and other flood control works damaged in the recent Missouri and Mississippi River floods.

The money is in addition to the $25,000,000 approved last month for flood relief and rehabilitation in the stricken area.

Future Flood Funds Asked

While the House rushed through appropriation to repair past flood damage, delegations from four Missouri Valley states asked Congress to grant funds to prevent future floods on the river.

They appeared before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee to urge restoration of House cuts in funds asked by the administration for flood control projects for the next fiscal year.

Nebraska Gov. Val Peterson said after the closed-door session that he was "very much encouraged" at the prospects for more funds.

40 Instructors Scheduled For SOC Summer Sessions

Ashland—Addition of 10 education experts will augment the regular staff of 30 instructors who will teach at the summer session of Southern Oregon college, it was announced today by Dr. John D. E. McAuley, director of the eight-week program.

The visiting faculty members, recruited from all parts of the country, will direct regular course work as well as lead two-week workshops. Dr. McAuley explained. Summer school will start Monday, June 16 and continue through August 8 with an additional post session scheduled August 11 to 29.

Degree Offered

Dr. McAuley said major innovation of the 1952 program will be inauguration of the master's degree curriculum recently approved by the State Board of Higher Education. Fifteen graduate courses will be offered this summer in addition to more than 80 classes for undergraduates.

Dr. Walter E. Snyder, assistant superintendent of public instruction in Oregon, will be one of the visiting educators. Dr. McAuley said. He will teach a two-week workshop on education of the handicapped child, one of his specialties.

Another visitor will be Dr. Ella Hawkinson, chairman of the department of history and political science at Hope college, Holland, Mich. Dr. Hawkinson was one of the initiating sponsors of UNESCO and is considered an authority on international relations. Dr. McAuley said. She will conduct a two-week workshop in that field.

Language Courses

Dr. Clyde Martin, language arts specialist from the University of Texas, will be a full-time staff member, offering several courses in that field. She is also a language arts consultant for the program in Arkansas.

Another visitor who will give a special workshop course will be Patricia Randies, director of the Cincinnati, O., Children's theater. She is considered one of the outstanding leaders in that field. Dr. McAuley said, and will lead a special workshop in drama for the elementary teacher.

Floyd T. Thomas of the state department of education will conduct a workshop course in speech correction. Pupils who have speech difficulties will be studied and given assistance.

Two elementary school instructors, Henrietta Maskaal and Marjorie W. Priger, have taught at previous summer sessions here. Dr. McAuley said. Miss Maskaal is a SOC graduate and has been teaching at a Southgate, Calif., elementary school. Miss Priger is supervisor of home instruction in the state department of education.

Camp Leadership

Mrs. Lillian Pattison, Ashland, will conduct a workshop on camp and club leadership. She has been an executive of the Campfire Girls organization and is currently assisting her husband who is general secretary of the Ashland YMCA.

Douglas Russell of the University of Florida will again offer a course in costuming, working closely with the Shakespearean festival, and Mrs. Evelyn Barker, Ashland, currently teaching at the Ashland Play school, will present workshops in writing methods and reading.

A supplementary activity connected with the summer school work will be the second annual northwest regional elementary school principals' work conference at the University of Oregon, Dr. McAuley said. Students attending the Eugene session will be granted credit by the Ashland institution. One of the conference instructors will be Eugene Bowman, associate professor of mathematics at SOC.

Wisconsin Driver Courses Top States

Milwaukee—(U.P.)—If instruction makes good drivers, Wisconsin should have the best in the country.

Bernard A. Precourt, safety director of the Wisconsin division of the American Automobile Association, said Wisconsin has more driving courses in its schools than any other state.

Precourt said 71 high schools in the state offer driving courses, as do 31 vocational schools and five state colleges. A total of 6,031 young people have received practical driver training in the last five years and 4,000 have received classroom instruction, he said.

Manston, England—(U.P.)—A U. S. Air Force F-84 Thunderjet exploded in flight and crashed on the American fighter base field here Wednesday, the third such thunderjet crash in a month.

The pilot was killed.

The plane, one of five making up a special acrobatic team known as the Sky Blazers which had flown here from Furstentfeldbruck, Germany, exploded as it flew over the field control tower.

Cheery Sendoff Avoids Accidents

Boston—(U.P.)—A man is less likely to have accidents if his wife gives him a cheery send-off in the morning, according to a speaker at the annual Massachusetts Safety Conference.

Arthur A. Hansen, supervising engineer of the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Co., said personal conflicts have much to do with an "accident proneness attitude."

He said a man has "got to want to do his job (and) if something sours him, it is inviting danger."

"If the wife sees him off with a smile, a good breakfast, a pat on the back, he will do a better job," Hansen said.
