A Nichols' Worth of—

Comment On This and That

BY HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Feature Writer

Washington — (U.P.) — Bugs are flying and worming their way in from all directions to eat our tomatoes, rutabagas, cabbage, corn and other crops.

Harmon Nichols

The Department of Agriculture warns that the pests will be as thick as ever this year in most areas of the country. To combat the menace, the department has printed some booklets on all sorts of crop-killers. These may be bought by mail from the Government Printing Office for a small sum.

In this and other areas, the Japanese beetle is the most serious challenge.

To Disappear in August

They will appear in force about the middle of June and after a summer of destruction will disappear toward the middle of August.

These little bugs can be curbed by applying DDT or chlordane solutions in the soil — or later by spraying plants with DDT. Traps are not effective in fighting the Japanese beetle, the department says, unless the whole neighborhood gets together in the fight.

The booklet on beetles costs 15 cents.

Out in the West the alfalfa weevil has been a serious pest for years. Somehow it has found its way to the East. Scientists say that it may have come our way under its own power, or hitched rides in baled hay.

Sprays Effective

Dieldrin and chlordane sprays are effective, but the Department of Agriculture issues this warning:

"Follow instructions carefully when using these materials. Be careful not to inhale excessive quantities at one time. After using the insecticides, wash your hands carefully. Keep containers of the materials plainly labeled and out of reach of children and away from foods."

Perhaps the best all-around booklet on ways to outsmart farm and garden pests is one called "handbook on Insects and Diseases." The cost is 20 cents.

Attacks New Leaves

Another well-known and active destroyer of man's labors is the boxwood leaf miner which attacks new leaves after hibernating through the winter in dead leaves.

There are several commercial sprays that will destroy them.

At Beltsville, Md., scientists are conducting a number of experiments to fight various types of cockroaches and are concentrating on developing new types of non-toxic insect killers with phosphorus bases.

Use Restricted

These have proved more deadly than other methods in laboratory tests, but so far commercial use has been restricted because of the danger to humans —sometimes fatal. These solutions up to this point can be handled only by trained experts.

The scientists ask us not to overlook some of Grandma's remedies.

You can still go after a fly with a swatter, and it isn't against the law to pick bugs off the potato plants and worms off the cabbage.

Man Gets Free Meal At Point of Pistol

Grand Rapids, Mich. — (U.P.)— Raymond Luxford, 19, ate a free meal at pistol-point when a gunman, apparently more hungry for companionship than food, accosted him in a restaurant and told him to "sit down and have something to eat."

"I'm not hungry," Luxford said.

"You're hungry now, aren't you?" asked his host, producing a pistol.

Luxford took ham sandwiches and soup. The gunman sipped coffee, paid the check and departed. Luxford admitted the meal didn't have much taste to it.

San Francisco Municipal Railway and the privately owned Market St. Railway were consolidated September 29, 1944.

Job of Mayor Reward For Long, Hard Service

Cheboygan, Mich. — (U.P.) — John Werner, mayor of Cheboygan, came up the hard way and has held a wide variety of jobs in the city's government.

He hired out 20 years ago as a truck and snowplow driver. Then he became street commissioner, then waterworks manager, fire marshal and assistant city clerk.

A change in administration forced Werner out of a job three years ago but he came back the next year and was elected councilman. This year he was elected mayor.

Golden Gate Park To Have Redwood Grove

San Francisco (U.P.) — San Francisco's Golden Gate Park is to have the first and only redwood grove in the world containing all 15 known species of the tree, the Redwood Empire Association announced.

The grove's first tree, a rare Cunningham evergreen of China,, has already been presented to Mayor Elmer Robinson and planted in the park.

It was the gifts of W. Warren Anderson, of Kentfield, Calif., who explained it was generally believed that the only existing redwoods are the Coast, Sierra and Dawn redwoods.

He pointed out the existence of other related redwoods, the giant Cryptomeria of Japan, the Arthrotaxis of Tasmania, the Umbrella "Pine," the Bald "Cypress," the Chinese Swamp Redwood and several other species.

Bituminous coal is used in 93 of the Veterans Administration's hospitals, office buildings, and other installations.
