Around Hollywood

Hollywood — (U.P.) — Stomach dancer Samia Gamal wriggled into Hollywood to crash the movies Thursday and announced everybody's been telling fibs about her.

She is, she announced, neither a belly dancer nor a bather in olive oil.

Aline Mosby The Egyptian beauty proclaims she is now a dramatic actress who just bought a couple of Texas oil wells and puts ice-American-style—in her highballs.

"I would like to be dramatic actress in Hollywood," said Samia with a dramatic toss of her long, dark brown hair. "I act in movies in Egypt."

"I am not a belly dancer," she sniffed. "I am Oriental dancer. And somebody made that olive oil up. Somebody call us Abdullah and Abdomen, too. People look at me like I'm monkey. They ask me how I cut my toenails, round or square. I tell them I have five fingers like you. I am not deerfeet."

To Dance at Ciro's

Samia and her stomach arrived in the celluloid city to dance for the movie stars at Ciro's. She with her husband, Texas millionaire Sheppard King, who took her away from it all and imported her to the U. S. They decided to wed as followers of tender romance will recall, after a two-hour courtship over champagne in Paris.

Since then she feels she is not being recognized for her art.

Just Stands and Wiggles

"In Egypt belly dancing has been a stomach. She just stands and wiggles. She does not know what to do with her hands," explained Samia.

"Samia moves everything at once," husband King added.

"I never wear girdle," Samia continued. "I try girdle for five minutes and take it off. Girdle only for fat woman. I think I am the only one in Hollywood who doesn't wear one.

"I must have little bit stomach for dance, so I can move it. I cannot eat before my show, though. If I have one sandwich, you can see it.

Soft Stomachs Sexier

"But tell movie stars to keep stomachs not so strong, but little bit soft. Sexier."

King reached across the nightclub table and clutched the hand of his brown-eyed bride.

"We've been married nearly six months," he sighed. "Billy Graham, the evangelist, said we would not last six months, but we're still going full blast."

"I wanted to get a panther for her to take into the hotel here," he beamed. "I like this show business."

"And she has one of those nose veils that make your eyes stick out. Boy! If she could walk down Hollywood boulevard in that."

Hampshire Natives Prominent News Men

Concord, N. H. — (U.P.) — New Hampshire natives are credited with the founding of four newspapers of national note.

Horace Greeley, a native of Amherst, founded the New York Tribune and another native of that town, George W. Kendall, founded the New Orleans Picayune.

Stilson Hutchins of Whitefield started the Washington Post and Charles G. Greene of Boscawon the Boston Post.

In addition, New Hampshire produced Charles A. Dana, famed editor of the New York Sun, who was born in Hinsdale, and John Wentworth, a native of Sandwich, who established the Democrat, the first newspaper in Chicago.

Dead line Sunday Classifieds is at noon Saturdays.

WATCH THAT COFFEE POT

When a person is tired, worn out, weary or weak from exhaustion or shock he needs a cup to cheer but not inebriate.

Coffee is the ideal stimulant or restorative for the purpose. Coffee is primarily a mental (cerebral, brain) and nerve stimulant. Its effect upon the circulation is secondary to the stimulation of the nervous system.

Unlike other brain or nerve stimulants, coffee leaves little or no appreciable let-down or after-depression as its effect wears away.

It would be a boon to national welfare if coffee (or tea or cocoa or chocolate or mate or guarana, all contain caffeine or a caffeine-like alkaloid and have the same, though milder effect that coffee does) replaced the demoralizing alcoholic cocktail in social life.

Excessive daily indulgence in tea or coffee (a cup of coffee is equivalent to two or three cups of tea) produces nervousness, insomnia, digestive disturbances, weak eyesight, morning headache.

Even the mildest of these nerve stimulants is injurious to children under sixteen years of age. Milk is the health beverage for growing children.

Many valetudinarians deny themselves coffee because they take seriously the propaganda of certain commercial interests. If the poor geeks derive satisfaction from such self-denial there's no harm in it, I suppose. But unless the attending physician specifically prohibits the use of coffee, individuals with heart trouble, particularly coronary trouble, derive real benefit from one or two cups of coffee at breakfast and, if desired, another cup at dinner time. The effect of coffee or tea is to dilate the coronary arteries. That, children, is good for the heart.

These observations apply to good coffee, not to the bootstrap chowder called coffee in many restaurants and homes. When the atmosphere is laden with the pleasant aroma of coffee the tannin solution left in the pot is bound to taste like — supply your own name for it.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

What is the cause and result of the fontanel of a baby's head closing too soon? (Mrs. F. L.)

Answer—It is insignificant. Formerly I had a craving. I didn't know what a year ago following suggestion of yours, I tried chewing wheat. Liked it so much that now I chew it all day long. Is there any harm in this? I have gained six pounds, which suits me, as I weighed only 118 and am 52 inches tall. (Mrs. R. S.)

Answer—No harm in it. I am 77 and suffer every night from what I'd call uncomfortable restlessness in my legs, rather than cramps. Can't seem to find a position comfortable enough to permit sleep. (G. J.)

Answer—Half of a nitroglycerin (1/100 grain) tablet dissolved in mouth, the other half in an hour if necessary, will probably relieve you. If druggist will not sell you half a dozen, ask any physician you know.

Acid Condition, Eh? I have an acid condition, called acne. Would you please help me? (Louise.)

Answer—I'll try, Louise. In the first place, never again let anybody wish "acid condition" on you. That is hunk. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for pamphlet on ACNE, BLEMISHES AND PIMPLES. National Newspaper Syndicate, Chicago 6, Illinois.

Salem — (U.P.) — The Oregon Supreme Court Wednesday upheld the death sentence of Wayne Le Roy Long, convicted of the first degree murder of Walter Lane Rucker in Clackamas county June 15, 1950.

Portland — (U.P.) — The Mayfair theater here was emptied in three minutes Tuesday night when fire broke out in a waste-basket.

Pear Trees Bear Fruit Without Aid of Soil

Berkeley, Calif. — (U.P.) — Pear trees that produce fruit every year have been growing for the past 11 years in a University of California laboratory here.

The trees are strong and healthy. They are fed by a solution containing all the minerals necessary for their growth. Every year the roots have to be cut to prevent them from growing too large.

The experiment began when scientists were making a study of pear tree nutrition. They decided to leave the trees in the solution when the study was finished and since then have been reaping pears each year.

Tax Gatherer Fear Brings Hiding of Cash

Akron, O. — (U.P.) — It used to be fear of bank failure but now it's fear of the tax gatherer that makes people hide their cash and valuables under the mattresses and under the dressers.

That's the conclusion of John Struzenski, detective captain, who says Akronites have about $5,000,000 hidden in and around their homes, just waiting for the wily burglar to trace it.

He said the number of burglaries where large sums of money are taken from homes is going up, with the case of the New England baby sitter who took $25,000 as an extreme example.

No very large burglary has been reported here so far, Struzenski said, "but we expect one any day."

"There isn't any safe home hiding place for money or valuables," he said. "You think you are pretty smart but I'll bet that if a burglar gets in he'll
