Studio Displays Wertz Paintings

An exhibit of several water-colors done by Fritz Wertz, Rogue valley artist, are now displayed in the window of Shangle's studio. The paintings are displayed with a portrait of the artist which was made at the request of the Ford Times, magazine which recently purchased several paintings to reproduce in the August issue of the publication.

The paintings in the studio exhibit include two of the Ernest Lyman ranch in Sams Valley, one entitled "Riding the Horse on the Hayfork," two still life paintings; a work named "Grounded Boat" which was painted following a violent storm at DePoe bay; two portraits of girls; one made of the historic Birdseye ranch on Highway 99; one of the John Harrison ranch on Gall's creek and a self portrait of the artist. This last has been exhibited several times, exciting much favorable comment.
