Oregon City — (U.P.) — A yearling buck deer, frightened by a wild dash into the center of Oregon City, crashed through a store's large plate glass window Tuesday and was so badly cut that a game law officer said the animal would have to be destroyed.

It was believed the animal was chased out of the neighboring woods by dogs.

Occupants of the store were uninjured when the deer smashed through the eight-by-ten-foot window.

Two Hurt Tuesday In Auto Accident

Two persons were injured in an automobile accident at the intersection of Old Crater Lake highway and the Central Point market road at about 5 p.m. yesterday, according to state police.

They were Gerald R. Barry, 522 North Front street, driver of one of the cars, who was expected to be released from Community hospital today, and Connie Rawstern, 2 1/2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle C. Rawstern, route 2, box 238, Medford, a passenger in the other car, who was treated at the hospital and released.

State police said Barry's car, which was going west on the market road, skidded while rounding a corner and went out of control, hitting the car driven by Rawstern. Barry was cited for driving without an operator's license.

The Rawstern child was taken to the hospital by private car. Conger-Morris ambulance service took Barry to the hospital.

4-H and FFA Dairy Fair Winners Told By County Agent

Top winners of the 4H and FFA Dairy Practice fair held at the Gailand ranch near Gold Hill Saturday were announced yesterday by R. H. Cate Jr., county agent in 4-H work.

Rex Moore, Eagle Point, won the champion dairy showmanship award of a model Jersey cow given by the sponsoring Rogue River Jersey Cattle club. The award was closely contested, according to Cate, with Mitzy Baysinger, Applegate, second.

In the morning judging contest with three classes of animals, five tied for top honors. They were Lorna Chapman, Valley View; Carl Koellner, Sams Valley; and Josephine county winners were Alice Taylor and Ruth Alexander of Sunny alley, and Sandra Altheide, Jerome Prairie.

During the afternoon, five classes for dairy showmanship were held with Moore winner of the senior Jersey showmanship award and Miss Baysinger the Guernsey senior showmanship award. Donna Brown, Applegate, won the senior showmanship for other breeds award; Bill Monroe, Josephine county, won the junior showmanship award; and Terry Hart, Progressive Dairy club of Josephine county, won the visitor's champion showmanship award.

The Applegate Dairy club won the prize for the 4-H club with the most attendance. Arion Christensen is the leader.

The Eagle Point 4-H club led by Cliff Moore won the most members in attendance of the total membership prize with 11 out of 19 members present.

Over 200 people attended the practice fair, Cate noted, and Jens Svinth, western representative of the American Jersey Cattle club, was judge.

A lunch was served by members of the Gold Hill 4-H club.

Cooler Weather Eases Danger of Fire in Oregon

Portland — (U.P.) — Cooler weather was predicted in most of Oregon Wednesday to ease a mild fire danger in the state created by rising temperatures and falling humidity.

Medford Records 92
The Dalles posted the highest temperature in the state Tuesday with 95 while Medford was runnerup with 92. It was 88 in Portland, the warmest day of the year.

Some logging operations in the state were halted when the humidity fell below the 30 per cent point. By state law, all operations in the woods close automatically when the humidity gets down to 30 per cent.

River Rise Seen
The Portland weather bureau said the humidity in interior southwest Oregon yesterday averaged 25 per cent; 30 per cent in interior northwest Oregon and 18 to 23 per cent in Eastern Oregon.

River forecasters expected a slow rise of the Columbia and Willamette rivers to a crest of 20.5 feet at Portland and 20.6 feet at Vancouver, Wash., on Thursday then a .1 of a foot drop by Sunday. No serious flooding was expected.

Park Naturalist Tells VA Members Of Park Sidelights

Camp White — Sidelights on national parks throughout the world were related in a talk by Dr. George C. Ruhl, naturalist at Crater Lake National park, before a meeting of domiciliary members this week, under the sponsorship of the American Red Cross.

Dr. Ruhl, who was in the Navy during the war, commented on differences between national park operations and facilities in Switzerland, Sweden, South America and South Africa and brought out problems in handling the wild life as well as the tourists.

Farewell Talk
It was in this nature of a farewell review, since Dr. Ruhl will leave June 8 for Hawaii where he is to become the naturalist of the national park there. He has been with the National Park service since 1941.

"In Switzerland," he said, "the national parks are scientific laboratories for the public. In Sweden where there are 14 national parks, four inside the Arctic circle, the people run the parks for themselves.

"The most popular animal in our parks is the bear. They are comical and children love them, but they are wild animals none the less. Bears are all right until lured in to becoming pals of humans," he said.

One of the most difficult problems for the naturalist, he emphasized, is to know how to handle the predatory instinct of wild life. Experience with lynx preying upon game grouse has shown that there is a delicate balance in nature that is maintained by this instinct.

Started in 1870
In 1870, he declared, the National parks were born through the acquisition by the federal government of Yellowstone National park at the behest of a group of Montana explorers who discovered the geysers. Today there are 27 parks in the chain.

Dr. Ruhl told something of the story of the big trees in California and Crater Lake in Oregon, which he described as a phenomenon produced in the last act of the volcanic eruptions at one time prevalent in this region. The 12,000 foot mountain

Tax Bureau Said Giving Breaks To Noted Racketeers

Washington — (U.P.) — Sen. John J. Williams disclosed Wednesday he is seeking further evidence to back up his charge that the Internal Revenue bureau has been giving tax breaks to notorious racketeers.

Internal Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap hotly denied the charge. He told a reporter that "the results of our racketeer drive shows the bureau does not play favorites with gamblers."

Tax Money Said Due
Williams said in a Senate speech late Tuesday that Chicago racketeers, including members of the Capone mob, owe almost $1,000,000 in taxes dating back to prohibition days.

The Delaware Republican said he is examining "other cases" in the tax-collecting agency. Informed sources said he has asked the bureau for information and records on several prominent underworld figures. Compromise Said Made Williams said the bureau has been making compromise settlements in gangsters' tax cases when a rigid stand by the government could have hurt the underworld.

Dunlap said the bureau has been making compromise settlements in gangsters' tax cases when a rigid stand by the government could have hurt the underworld.

Dunlap said he did not know the details of the cases cited by Williams.

"Many gamblers are perfectly honest as far as income taxes are concerned," Dunlap said. "You can't put a man in jail for tax evasion if he hasn't evaded his taxes."
