President's Pullman Overhauled for Tour In Campaign Interest

By LYLE C. WILSON
 Washington—(U.P.)—The Army Signal Corps has overhauled President Truman's whistle-stop campaign Pullman. It needs only 15 or so cars to hooked in front of it to become Mr. Truman's 1952 campaign train.

The President's promise and eagerness to campaign for the Democratic ticket and a Democratic Congress again this year are too obvious to permit doubt that he intends to do so. Depends on Republicans
 The kind of campaign, however, depends most of all on whom the Republicans nominate

Medford Lions Club Elects Officers; Circus Plans Told

Archie C. Fries Jr., assistant manager of the Medford branch, U.S. National bank, was elected president of the Medford Lions club at the meeting last week.

Keith Bates and Rusty Maulsby will remain as directors to complete the board.

Madman Phantom Sought in Killing

St. Louis—(U.P.)—Illinois highway patrolmen rushed a spent bullet to the police laboratory here Saturday to see if a "phantom gunman" who fires at passing motorists on U. S. Highway 66 is responsible for the mystery murder of a St. Louis man.
 The gunman, who police believe is a madman, took potshots at two motorists on a stretch of one of the nation's busiest roads Thursday near Plainfield, Ill.
 Businessman Killed
 Capt. James Thompson of the St. Louis police department said he could be the same person who shot and killed Raymond C. Paack, a businessman with no known enemies, on a downtown street corner here Wednesday.
 Paack fell dead with a .38-caliber slug in his back, but police could find no one who had fired a shot in the area nor could they locate the gun.
 Thompson asked that a slug found on the floorboard of a car involved in the Plainfield shootings be sent here to compare with the bullet in the Paack slaying.

Congressional Quiz

Questions and Answers on What Goes on at the Capital. Furnished by Congressional Quarterly News Features.

Q—Did politics play much part in the latest revision of Congressional districts to adjust for state population shifts?
 A—Yes. A Congressional Quarterly survey shows the party in control of the state legislature usually called the tune, drawing new district lines to its own advantage. Generally the legislatures increased the number of districts solidly Republican or Democratic and cut down the number of "switching" districts. The reapportionment, which takes place every 10 years, this year gave more Congressional seats to seven states and reduced the representation of nine.

Q—Did the shuffling of Congressional districts this year give them all about the same population?
 A—No. Politics, geographical features, local interests, constitutional restrictions and voter desires resulted in considerable variation. Few districts are within 5,000 of the 344,846 average population per district. The largest district, Harris county, including Houston, Tex., has 802,102 people. The smallest, South Dakota's Second, has 148,147. New York's 43 districts are most uniform—all but one are in the 300,000-400,000 bracket.

Q—Is Congress going to write a "GI Bill of Rights" for the Korean veterans?
 A—The House Veterans Affairs Committee May 14 approved such a bill for veterans serving after June 26, 1950. Benefits would include mustering out pay, home and business loan guarantees, and monthly payments for college, job or farm training. Though modeled on the World War II GI Bill, the legislation would include changes aimed at correcting abuses.

Q—Does the bill increasing GI pay give anything extra for Korea combat?
 A—No. A Senate-passed provision for an extra $45 monthly combat pay for Korean service was dropped during Senate House conference. As signed May 19 by the President, the legislation increases subsistence allowances 14 per cent and boosts basic pay four per cent, at a cost of $484 million yearly.

Q—Does the government withhold very much news from the public?
 A—Five members of the Senate's permanent Investigations Subcommittee were assigned May 14 to study that question. They will investigate whether the government policies impede the free flow of news. They are Sens. Moody (D-Mich.) and Monroney (D-Okla.) both former newsmen, and Schoeppel (R-Kan.), McClellan (D-Ark.) and Nixon (R-Calif.).

GOP Senator Reed Charges Truman Seeks Nomination

Washington—(U.P.)—Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) predicted Saturday that President Truman will get the 1952 Democratic presidential nomination "by virtue of the most sinister and un-American political strategem in all our national history."
 Mr. Truman announced March 29 that he will not be a candidate for re-nomination or re-election.
 Reed said that "by his specious withdrawal from the race, President Truman sought only to quiet the mounting fire of criticism and national indignation aimed at him because of the sickening Washington scandals."
 In a speech printed in the Congressional Record, Reed said "despite his dramatic public renunciation of third-term ambitions, President Truman has maneuvered skillfully to keep himself actively in the race for re-election."

Students Arrested For Shots at Cars

Portland—(U.P.)—Three of four college students who took "pot shots" at cars and streetlights in Portland's westside heights early Friday were still in jail Saturday.
 Police said the parents of Ronald J. Arnold, 20; William K. Whitlock, 18, and Robert Burdick, 19, all of Portland, apparently had been unable to raise the $5,000 bail set for each.
 The fourth youth, Michael Armstrong, 19, of Oregon City, was released on $500 bail when police determined he was with the others but did not participate in the actual shootings.
 The four were charged with assault with a deadly weapon after they drove along the streets of Council Crest, shooting at parked cars, street lights and at least one store. One bullet went through the windshield of a car occupied by a teen-aged couple but it did not hit them.

Right Youth Training Stressed by Speaker

"To make a good citizen tomorrow the child must have the right training today," Sgt. William Colbert of the Oregon state police told members of the Medford Active club at their weekly meeting at the Rogue Valley Country club.
 Colbert stated that training a child for life rests in the hands of the home, the church and the school. In most of the cases where he had to handle juvenile cases, he found that the child had never had religious training or his home life was unsatisfactory. He urged the members to give their children religious training, not only would it make the child realize that he must be responsible to laws of men but above that he must obey the laws of God.
 "Your family relationship will be greater if you have religious thinking there," Colbert concluded.

Police on Lookout For Ferocious Cat

Arlington, Mass.—(U.P.)—Police were on the lookout Saturday for a tom cat that apparently uses a human as an accomplice.
 Police said their only clue to the theft of a dozen bottles of milk from a super-market was a report from a man who said his two big dogs were driven away from the scene by a ferocious cat.
