Many Violent Death Fallacies Unfounded

Hartford, Conn.—(U.P.)—County Coroner Louis W. Schaefer says there are many fallacies which have resulted from investigations into violent deaths and are without foundation.

Among those he listed were: Murder will out—Actually, the number of unsolved homicides in this country is enormous.

The eye of the deceased contains the image of the murderer—This is impossible and without scientific foundation.

Murderer always returns to the scene of the crime—It happens sometimes but by no means is universally true.

Dead men tell no tales—What they tell depends solely on the care, diligence and efforts of the investigators.

A drowning person goes down three times before staying down—He may disappear the first time he goes under or may continue struggling until becoming unconscious.

Fortune tellers, clairvoyants and mediums can give valuable information in murder cases—Wonderful, indeed, if possible.

While Africa has a large variety of big game, there are no tigers there.—Sports Afield.

Measles Again Lead County Disease List

Twenty-six cases of measles, 15 of which were in Medford, led the communicable disease report for last week, according to the county health office. Others were in Ashland, seven, Gold Hill, two, and Shady Cove and Central Point, one each.

Medford and Ashland each had one case of tuberculosis, the report showed, and one case of scarlet fever was reported in Medford, as was one case of poliomyelitis, previously announced.

There were five cases of pneumonia, two of them in Medford. There was one each in Gold Hill, Ashland and Butte Falls. Other cases included one case each of infectious mononucleosis in Rogue River, mumps in Ashland, septic sore throat in Trail, influenza in Medford, and rheumatic fever in Medford.

Bob Fowler Jr. Named Farm Journal Editor

Corvallis—Robert G. Fowler Jr., for the past 4 1/2 years extension editor at Oregon State college, has been named west coast field editor for the Farm Journal, one of the nation's largest farm magazines, it was announced this week. His resignation from OSC is effective July 15.

His new headquarters will be in San Francisco.

Young Fowler is the son of R. G. Fowler, Medford, for many years county agent here, and now Republican candidate for county assessor.

White College Student To Marry Colored Classmate

Ithaca, N. Y.—(U.P.)—Grace Cunningham, a 22-year-old Negro, becomes the bride Wednesday of Robert McAllester, a white classmate who left Earlham College at Richmond, Ind., because of his love for her.

McAllester said Tuesday night he and Miss Cunningham "will make our vows aloud" in a quiet Quaker ceremony.

Parents to Attend
"I don't know who will be at the wedding," McAllester said. "I'm to wait and see. My father and mother, and Grace's parents will be there. I expect her sister also will be there."

He said the ceremony would take place during a meeting of the Society of Friends.

"There isn't any leader to perform the ceremonies," McAllester said.

McAllester and Miss Cunningham announced their engagement while on spring vacation from Earlham College last April. Their romance had attracted nationwide attention and the announcement forced McAllester to leave school.

Decision His Own
He said he "agreed to leave" Earlham but was "very disappointed" because the college had forced him to make the decision.

McAllester received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Earlham Tuesday along with his bride-to-be, and the two brand-new college graduates came East after receiving their diplomas.

McAllester said his parents approved the wedding.

When asked if he would raise a family, McAllester replied: "I don't see why not, do you?"

Spaatz Supports Ike On Air Power Stand

Washington—(U.P.)—Gen. Carl A. (Tooney) Spaatz has confirmed that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, while Army chief of staff "supported fully" the Air Force's program for expansion of U.S. air power.

"He supported it right on through until he got out as Army chief," Spaatz told a reporter.

Eisenhower told a news conference Tuesday that he had "always fought for more air force than ever was granted by Congress." He suggested that newsmen ask Spaatz "how I stood on air power."
